Ike Says Tensions Rule Out Real Spending Slash

President To Go On Air In Behalf Of His Program

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he plans to take directly to the American people, in one, or more likely two, radio-TV addresses, his case for adopting his $71,800,000,000 budget pretty much as it stands.

Eisenhower told a news conference there is no hope for a real slash in government spending unless a very great easing of world tensions makes it possible to cut the present "stupendous" expenditures for defense.

The President at the same time voiced 100 per cent agreement with Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who said last January that unless the "terrific tax take" is reduced this country will have "a depression that will curl your hair."

Letter Prepared Jointly

Eisenhower said he and Humphrey "jointly prepared a letter" on which the Treasury head's depression views were based. He added, in answer to a question, that Humphrey wants to leave the Cabinet and must do so "sooner or later"—though not, he implied, because of any disagreement with the President.

"Feeling fine," as he put it, after a good deal of exposure to the sun in recent weeks, the chief executive put sharp emphasis on this statement: "The monetary policy of this government is mine, and no one underneath me is going to change my policy." He was referring here to a question whether Humphrey's successor might ease the administration' "tight money" policy.

On Capitol Hill, where strong moves have developed to cut the 1957-58 budget, Senate Majority Leader Johnson of Texas told reporters later he expects "more controversy and more pruning." Johnson said differing statements by Eisenhower and some of his aides about spending remind him of "the old shell game."

"Now you see it, now you don't," Johnson said.

Soviet Threats Ignored

Turning to foreign affairs Eisenhower told 232 newsmen that this country is paying no heed in its defense planning to Soviet threats against various countries to dissuade them from letting the United States set up nuclear weapons bases on their territoy.

He said the Russians' recent "open sky" proposal—they'd get the privilege of inspecting Alaska and the Western United States by air and grant similar access to an area of the Soviet Union—shows the London disarmament talks are bringing "more honest and hard work" than in the past.

But this specific new proposal, he said, will need careful study because "it isn't merely acreage that is important when you are examining; it is what is in the particular areas delineated."

McLeod Scores Major Victory In Senate Test

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Scott McLeod won a major test tonight when the Senate rejected a motion to return his nomination as ambassador to Ireland to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

A vote on confirmation of the nomination was put off until tomorrow.

The motion was rejected by a 54-22 roll-call vote. This paved the way for confirmation over outspoken Democratic opposition led by Chairman Green (D-RI) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

It came after a day of debate in which the State Department security chief was alternately condemned as a "symbol of the witch hunter" and defended as the victim of a left-wing "smear campaign."

Clark Blasts Nominee

"The witch hunter" accusation was made by Sen. Clark (D-Pa), who bitterly criticized McLeod's handling of the State Department security program.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, a GOP leader for whom McLeod once served as administrative aide, said the nominee was the target of smears by Communists, pinks fellow travelers and their associates.

Sen. Green urged the Senate to give the President "an opportunity to nominate some one else who is better qualified."

Bohlen Confirmed

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif), confident of enough votes to win confirmation for McLeod, told this colleagues:

"The President told me today he has full confidence in Mr. McLeod and hopes he will be confirmed promptly."

Just before taking up McLeod's nomination, the Senate confirmed by voice vote the nomination of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen to be ambassador to the Philippines.

School Aid Bill Cut Half Billion By House Group

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The House Education Committee voted overwhelmingly today to whack half a billion dollars from the school construction bill, in hopes of getting the program through an economy-minded Congress.

The committee voted 23-3 to authorize federal outlays of 1½ billion dollars during the next five years, instead of the two billion originally called for by the Democratic-sponsored measure.

A final committee vote on the entire bill was scheduled for tomorrow.

Rep. McConnell (R-Pa) asked the committee to whittle down the cost of the aid package, saying it would help the measure's chances of passage.

Bid For Ike's Support

The action also was a bid to win complete support for the measure from President Eisenhower, who had originally called for $1,300,000,000 in construction aid.

Rep. Metcalf (D-Mont) called it "an attempt to get a bipartisan bill that would completely meet with the President's approval, and we expect the President's support because of that."

Eisenhower has made it clear he wants Congress to give him a school aid bill this year, but he might have balked at a two billion dollar price tag—which was still less than some Democrats had demanded.

How Bill Now Stands

In its present form, the measure would authorize the federal government to give the states 300 million dollars in aid in each of the next five years.

Rep. Augustine Kelley (D-Pa), whose name is on the bill, had wanted annual federal aid of 400 million dollars but he said he accepted the cut "in the interest of unanimity."

Eisenhower recommended a four-year program of 325 million dollars annually.

Chrysler Sues For Stoppages

DETROIT, May 8 (AP)—Chrysler Corp. filed a five-million-dollar damage suit today against Local 212 of the United Auto Workers Union in the wake of a series of unauthorized work stoppages by the local's 23,000 members in Chrysler's body stamping division.

In addition, Chrysler asked $500,000 a day henceforth for each day in which the local interferes with its attempts to move tool, dies and fixtures from Detroit factories to a new plant at Twinsburg, Ohio.

Both suits were filed in U.S. District Court.

The corporation contended it had an agreement on both equipment and job transfers with the international UAW and that the local is violating it through work stoppages aimed at interfering with transfer of equipment to Ohio. The international is not made a defendant.

Chrysler said in a telegram to Walter P. Reuther, UAW international president: "Repeated illegal interference by Local 212 officials with normal work assignments in our stamping division plants has cost thousands of our employes loss of work and pay and is severely damaging Chrysler Corp."

Metal Spring Heart Valve Gives Housewife New Life

DETROIT, May 8 (AP)—A year ago a 34-year-old Detroit mother of five was told she had a life expectancy of six months. Today she is leading a near-normal life—the main spring of a watch serving as a heart valve.

She is Mrs. Mabel Streeter. Wayne State University says on April 5, 1956, she became the first person whose leaky heart valve was replaced by a metal spring.

The artificial valve was developed by a team of doctors from the Wayne University College of Medicine and the Elgin National Watch Co. from an alloy used in watch main springs. The company predicts it could last 300 years.

Mrs. Streeter was considered critically ill 18 months ago, unable to do any housework or walk up steps without aid. Now, her doctors say, she does her housework and some shopping and can climb eight steps without undue fatigue.

The mitral valve in the left side of her heart had calcified and its flaps turned inward, leaving a hole that never fully closed between heart beats.

Rheumatic fever was blamed for scarring the valve.

The valve normally opens to let blood from the lungs into the left ventricle—the main pumping chamber—and closes as the heart gushes blood into the aorta or main artery. But Mrs. Streeter's valve permitted the blood to pass both ways between the chambers and the body got only a trickle, so to speak.

Doctor's figured her life expectancy at six months when they decided to try the metal valve technique—used in 110 experiments on dogs, but never on humans.

Teacher To Test Paddling Rights

GARY, Ind., May 8 (AP)—A sixth-grade teacher said today he wants to make a "test case" out of parents' demands that he be fired for a mass paddling of 16 pupils.

Neither parents nor school officials could agree on the justification for the paddling, and the teacher, Gordon D. Schipper, said the parents he has visited since then have given him a "courteous reception."

Schipper, a teacher for six years, said he lined the 16 pupils up at the back of the schoolroom and paddled them last Friday to "teach them respect."

Rojas Handed Another Term Despite Riots

15 To 50 Reported Slain, 100 Injured In Cali Disorders

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 8 (AP)—President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla was re-elected tonight for a four-year term, to begin in 1958.

A hand-picked Constituent Assembly voted 76-1 to keep him in office despite violent anti-Rojas demonstrations that had kept the country in an uproar since last Friday.

Several members of a Conservative faction opposing Rojas, re-election boycotted the session.

The Assembly was scheduled to meet early this afternoon but did not go into session until 4:45 p.m.

The one vote cast against Rojas went to Navarro Ospina, a political leader.

15 To 50 Reported Slain

There were reports from Cali, 185 miles southwest of here, that from 15 to 50 persons were killed and more than 100 injured in anti-Rojas riots yesterday.

Strong troop detachments and armored cars guarded the Capitol building.

A crowd of about 1,000 poorly dressed supporters of the President swarmed into the streets of Bogota early in the afternoon shouting demands for Rojas re-election.

From a sound truck parked on the Capitol steps, a leader shouted, "If the oligarchs don't open the banks this afternoon, we are going to open them."

But there were no signs that bankers, businessmen and manufacturers intended to back down in their opposition to Rojas.

Food Shortages

Manufacturers in Medellin sent a delegation to confer with Bogota industrialists.

Opposition leaders were reported insisting that Rojas abandon his quest for re-election and yield either to an individual or a military junta which would promise to restore constitutional processes, civil liberties, freedom of the press and popular elections.

There were food shortages here as shops remained closed for a second day. At least five persons have been killed in clashes in Bogota.

The Cali disorders were the worst reported since anti-Rojas demonstrations began among the students last Friday.

Ike Welcomes Diem To U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—South Viet Nam's fervently anti-Communist president, Ngo Dinh Diem, was welcomed personally by President Eisenhower today.

Diem's four-day state visit began at National Airport with a firm handshake from Eisenhower and a 21-gun salute. Eisenhower told him:

"You have exemplified in your corner of the world patriotism of the highest order. You have brought to your great task of organizing your country the greatest of courage, the greatest of statesmanship — qualities that have aroused our admiration and make us indeed glad to welcome you."

Diem said in reply:

"It is mostly the courage of the Vietnamese people, your own faith in my country and the unselfish American aid which has accomplished the miracle of Viet Nam."

Many thought 2½ years ago that the partitioned country, with a stronger, better organized Communist regime to the North, could not survive.

Truman was presented an engraved plaque, three feet square, depicting scenes from his life and administrations.

Forest Blaze Menace Grows In Northeast

[By The Associated Press]

Sections of woodlands in the northeastern United States—parched by a month-long drought—lay in blackened ruins Wednesday as the flaming menace of forest fires was stirred anew by brisk winds.

Weather forecasts held no hope of relief through much-needed rain.

Homes Threatened

One of the worst spots was Manchester, a fashionable town on the Massachusetts north shore. Hundreds of acres were burned since Saturday and rekindled outbursts threatened many new homes. Forestry officials termed the general situation "very critical."

National Guard units joined hundreds of firemen from northeastern Massachusetts. Public works employes were called from highway chores and schoolboys and volunteers pitched in to try to stem spread of the flames.

Forestry Director Raymond J. Kenney said fire fighters were confident they could hold the line as they did Tuesday. Bulldozers gouged a fire line in a six-mile circle in efforts to contain the fire.

New York Picture

New York State reported nearly 8,000 acres of woodlands ravaged by about 350 fires in the past two weeks. Fires broke out Wednesday near Lake George in northeastern New York where 100 acres of hardwood burned the previous day.

The New York Conservation Department reported new and serious fires raging on Long Island near Central Islip and advancing toward the community of Hauppauge, Suffolk County. It covered 400-500 acres and one Central Islip house was destroyed.

Accused Bomber Sought For Murder

PARAGOULD, Ark., May 8 (AP)—Charles J. Sexton, 59, an itinerant construction worker, was charged today with first-degree murder for the bombing deaths of his estranged wife and 5-year-old stepson here yesterday.

Municipal Judge George Edward Thiel said he issued a warrant for Sexton on the murder charge at the request of Prosecutor Terry Shell of Jonesboro.

Whereabouts of Sexton are not known.

He has been sought for questioning since Mrs. Edna Sexton, 36, and Charles Bittinger were killed when a charge of dynamite was exploded beneath the room in which they were asleep in the same bed yesterday.

Summerfield Again Threatens Mail Cut

Senate Unit Restores 32 Of 58 Million Slash

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield told Congress today he will again order cuts in postal service, effective July 1, unless the lawmakers vote him an extra 70 to 90 million dollars for fiscal 1958.

Summerfield sounded this warning to a Senate Appropriations Committee, which then went into closed session and voted to restore 32 million dollars of the 58 million cut by the House from the Post Office Department's 1958 budget.

The postmaster general had said the full 58 million would have to be restored, and that still another 70 to 90 million would be needed. He said the extra money would be requested in a supplemental appropriation bill.

Summerfield said a "phenomenal" increase in mail volume has made it necessary to seek more money to maintain full service in the coming fiscal year.

If the money isn't forthcoming, he said, postal service cuts will be ordered into effect on July 1, 1957, the first day of fiscal 1958.

This was reminiscent of Summerfield's threat—which he carried out—to curtail service last month unless Congress voted him an extra 47 million dollars for fiscal 1957. These cuts went into effect April 13 but were substantially lifted three days later after Congress voted the department a deficiency appropriation of 41 million dollars.

The subcommittee action restoring 32 million of the 58 million House cut in the department's budget is subject to review when the full Appropriations Committee votes on the bill tomorrow.

Maurice H. Stans, deputy postmaster general, told reporters that any money not restored would be added to the amount requested in a supplemental money bill. Summerfield said this measure will be sent to Congress by the Budget Bureau in about 10 days.

Enlisted Technicians Get Pay Increases

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The Defense Department today ordered pay raises for 350,000 enlisted technicians. It ignored a high level plea for a wholesale overhaul of the military pay system.

Secretary of Defense Wilson disclosed the raises, ranging from $12 to $50 monthly for about 15 per cent of the enlisted strength.

They were among the recommendations in the final report of a committee appointed by Wilson and headed by President Ralph Cordiner of the General Electric Co.

The Defense Department said that the pay increases for hard-to-get and hard-to-hold enlisted specialists would total about 49 million dollars the first year.

Malone Would Erase Censure Of Sen. M'Carthy

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Sen. Malone (R-Nev) today asked the Senate "to expunge" its condemnation of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), voted 67-22 on Dec. 2, 1954.

Malone, long-time friend of McCarthy, said the censure action was taken during a period of emotionalism and set a "dangerous precedent." He told his colleagues that McCarthy, who died last week, may prove to be "greater in death than in life."

Malone said he hoped those who pushed the censure resolution would now propose a resolution to strike the matter from official Senate records. If they do not do so within a "reasonable time," he said, he will offer such a resolution himself.

Malone's proposal brought a reply from Sen. Morse (D-Ore) that it would be improper to "expunge" something from American history.

British Pacifist Prepared To Die In H-Test Protest

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—Harold Steele, a British pacifist, kissed his three children goodby today and set out to do his bit against what he regards as the evil of the British H-bomb tests.

A 63-year-old retired poultry farmer who was a conscientious objector in World War I, Steele said he is prepared if necessary to die alone on a Pacific atoll in protest against the explosions British scientists expect to touch off at Christmas Island next month.

Steele leaves London by plane tomorrow for New Delhi on the first stage of a trip he hopes will take him to the danger area in time to subject himself to the hazards of blast and fall-out.

"I willingly sacrifice myself to prove to the world the horror of this devilish thing," he told reporters.

He wanted to ship aboard a suicidal "peace fleet" which the Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs proposed to send in. But the Council, in the face of such things as Britain's warning to all shipping to stay clear, dropped the cruise idea yesterday.

Reporters here told Steele of the cancellation.

"Then if necessary I will sail alone into the Christmas Island area," he said. "I can still handle a sailing craft. Or perhaps I could get some vessel to drop me on an atoll in the area where I could sit out the tests and if necessary die in them."

Steele's wife Sheila, 40, accompanied him to London from their home at Malvern, Worcestershire. She once expected to go all the way, but plans for having their children looked after fell through. So she decided to stay in England.

Union Chief's Silence Again Balks Inquiry

Declines To Try To "Blow The Lid Right Off Senate"

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Dave Beck today refused a challenge to "blow the lid right off the Senate," if he could, by revealing how his Teamster Union funds were spent.

Instead the chunky Teamsters boss again took the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Rackets Committee. He even declined to say whether he knows his own son, Dave Beck Jr.

Eventually, pleading that he wasn't feeling too well, the millionaire labor leader left the televised hearing for the privacy of his hotel room.

The committee proceeded to draw from Stewart Ormsby Krieger, a Teamsters accountant, the testimony that he got $15,375 in salary and expense money from the union over 18 months in which he worked almost exclusively for the Beck family's beer business.

Beck Keeps Promise

Just before the hearings began, Beck told newsmen: "I'll be one of the most silent witnesses you ever were in contact with." He kept this promise pretty well.

In renewing the Senate inquiry into Beck's affairs, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said his committee intends to produce new evidence to support allegations that Beck made "improper use" of union funds and abused his power as president of the biggest union in the country.

McClellan also said the investigators would go into the activities of "certain businessmen who are willing, for the sake of a few dollars, to make 'deals' of a highly improper nature." The Senate group has broad authority to investigate rackets in the labor-management field.

After making his opening statement, McClellan harked back to an interview in Galveston, Tex., April 15 in which Beck said he was "taking the rap" before the Senate committee "to avoid embarrassing a lot of fine people."

Contributions Mentioned

Beck was quoted as saying he would "blow the lid right off the Senate" should he reveal how union funds were spent. Asked at that time whether he meant contributions to members of Congress Beck was quoted as saying "If I start talking about contributions a lot of fine people would be embarrassed."

The Teamsters boss has since claimed he was misquoted, and he refused to confirm today that he had made any lid blowing remarks to reporters. In fact, he wouldn't say anything about the matter.

"I don't think the committee is impressed very much that you could blow the lid off," McClellan commented dryly.

The senator added that this was Beck's "opportunity to make any statement that might embarrass 'some mighty fine people,' as you put it."

Russia Rejects Atom Test Plan

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—The Soviet Union rejected today a Western proposal that the United Nations be given advance notice of all nuclear weapons tests.

The Russians have conducted 11 unannounced nuclear tests since August.

Valerian Zorin, Soviet delegate on the subcommittee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission blasted the proposal as "taking us no farther towards even a temporary suspension of H-bomb tests."

Zorin then read into the record of the six-week disarmament meetings lengthy statistics and information on effects of fall-out from nuclear tests.

Much of his information, he said, came from Western publications and other sources.

Harold Stassen U.S. delegate and special disarmament advisor to President Eisenhower quoted from an American scientific paper that the total radiation of all nuclear tests thus far is no more than the exposure an individual would get if he moved 300 feet into the air.

Britain authored the advance notification plan rejected by Zorin. However, a source inside the committee said the meeting also discussed similar proposals by Japan, India, Norway and Yugoslavia.

DETROIT, May 8 (AP)—A year ago a 34-year-old Detroit mother of five was told she had a life expectancy of six months. Today she is leading a near-normal life—the main spring of a watch serving as a heart valve.

She is Mrs. Mabel Streeter. Wayne State University says on April 5, 1956, she became the first person whose leaky heart valve was replaced by a metal spring.

The artificial valve was developed by a team of doctors from the Wayne University College of Medicine and the Elgin National Watch Co. from an alloy used in watch main springs. The company predicts it could last 300 years.

Mrs. Streeter was considered critically ill 18 months ago, unable to do any housework or walk up steps without aid. Now, her doctors say, she does her housework and some shopping and can climb eight steps without undue fatigue.

The mitral valve in the left side of her heart had calcified and its flaps turned inward, leaving a hole that never fully closed between heart beats.

Rheumatic fever was blamed for scarring the valve.

The valve normally opens to let blood from the lungs into the left ventricle—the main pumping chamber—and closes as the heart gushes blood into the aorta or main artery. But Mrs. Streeter's valve permitted the blood to pass both ways between the chambers and the body got only a trickle, so to speak.

Doctor's figured her life expectancy at six months when they decided to try the metal valve technique—used in 110 experiments on dogs, but never on humans.

Rojas Handed Another Term Despite Riots

15 To 50 Reported Slain, 100 Injured In Cali Disorders

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 8 (AP)—President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla was re-elected tonight for a four-year term, to begin in 1958.

A hand-picked Constituent Assembly voted 76-1 to keep him in office despite violent anti-Rojas demonstrations that had kept the country in an uproar since last Friday.

Several members of a Conservative faction opposing Rojas, re-election boycotted the session.

The Assembly was scheduled to meet early this afternoon but did not go into session until 4:45 p.m.

The one vote cast against Rojas went to Navarro Ospina, a political leader.

15 To 50 Reported Slain

There were reports from Cali, 185 miles southwest of here, that from 15 to 50 persons were killed and more than 100 injured in anti-Rojas riots yesterday.

Strong troop detachments and armored cars guarded the Capitol building.

A crowd of about 1,000 poorly dressed supporters of the President swarmed into the streets of Bogota early in the afternoon shouting demands for Rojas re-election.

From a sound truck parked on the Capitol steps, a leader shouted, "If the oligarchs don't open the banks this afternoon, we are going to open them."

But there were no signs that bankers, businessmen and manufacturers intended to back down in their opposition to Rojas.

Food Shortages

Manufacturers in Medellin sent a delegation to confer with Bogota industrialists.

Opposition leaders were reported insisting that Rojas abandon his quest for re-election and yield either to an individual or a military junta which would promise to restore constitutional processes, civil liberties, freedom of the press and popular elections.

There were food shortages here as shops remained closed for a second day. At least five persons have been killed in clashes in Bogota.

The Cali disorders were the worst reported since anti-Rojas demonstrations began among the students last Friday.

Ike Welcomes Diem To U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—South Viet Nam's fervently anti-Communist president, Ngo Dinh Diem, was welcomed personally by President Eisenhower today.

Diem's four-day state visit began at National Airport with a firm handshake from Eisenhower and a 21-gun salute. Eisenhower told him:

"You have exemplified in your corner of the world patriotism of the highest order. You have brought to your great task of organizing your country the greatest of courage, the greatest of statesmanship — qualities that have aroused our admiration and make us indeed glad to welcome you."

Diem said in reply:

"It is mostly the courage of the Vietnamese people, your own faith in my country and the unselfish American aid which has accomplished the miracle of Viet Nam."

Many thought 2½ years ago that the partitioned country, with a stronger, better organized Communist regime to the North, could not survive.

Forest Blaze Menace Grows In Northeast

[By The Associated Press]

Sections of woodlands in the northeastern United States—parched by a month-long drought—lay in blackened ruins Wednesday as the flaming menace of forest fires was stirred anew by brisk winds.

Weather forecasts held no hope of relief through much-needed rain.

Homes Threatened

One of the worst spots was Manchester, a fashionable town on the Massachusetts north shore. Hundreds of acres were burned since Saturday and rekindled outbursts threatened many new homes. Forestry officials termed the general situation "very critical."

National Guard units joined hundreds of firemen from northeastern Massachusetts. Public works employes were called from highway chores and schoolboys and volunteers pitched in to try to stem spread of the flames.

Forestry Director Raymond J. Kenney said fire fighters were confident they could hold the line as they did Tuesday. Bulldozers gouged a fire line in a six-mile circle in efforts to contain the fire.

New York Picture

New York State reported nearly 8,000 acres of woodlands ravaged by about 350 fires in the past two weeks. Fires broke out Wednesday near Lake George in northeastern New York where 100 acres of hardwood burned the previous day.

The New York Conservation Department reported new and serious fires raging on Long Island near Central Islip and advancing toward the community of Hauppauge, Suffolk County. It covered 400-500 acres and one Central Islip house was destroyed.

Accused Bomber Sought For Murder

PARAGOULD, Ark., May 8 (AP)—Charles J. Sexton, 59, an itinerant construction worker, was charged today with first-degree murder for the bombing deaths of his estranged wife and 5-year-old stepson here yesterday.

Municipal Judge George Edward Thiel said he issued a warrant for Sexton on the murder charge at the request of Prosecutor Terry Shell of Jonesboro.

Whereabouts of Sexton are not known.

He has been sought for questioning since Mrs. Edna Sexton, 36, and Charles Bittinger were killed when a charge of dynamite was exploded beneath the room in which they were asleep in the same bed yesterday.

Summerfield Again Threatens Mail Cut

Senate Unit Restores 32 Of 58 Million Slash

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield told Congress today he will again order cuts in postal service, effective July 1, unless the lawmakers vote him an extra 70 to 90 million dollars for fiscal 1958.

Summerfield sounded this warning to a Senate Appropriations Committee, which then went into closed session and voted to restore 32 million dollars of the 58 million cut by the House from the Post Office Department's 1958 budget.

The postmaster general had said the full 58 million would have to be restored, and that still another 70 to 90 million would be needed. He said the extra money would be requested in a supplemental appropriation bill.

Summerfield said a "phenomenal" increase in mail volume has made it necessary to seek more money to maintain full service in the coming fiscal year.

If the money isn't forthcoming, he said, postal service cuts will be ordered into effect on July 1, 1957, the first day of fiscal 1958.

This was reminiscent of Summerfield's threat—which he carried out—to curtail service last month unless Congress voted him an extra 47 million dollars for fiscal 1957. These cuts went into effect April 13 but were substantially lifted three days later after Congress voted the department a deficiency appropriation of 41 million dollars.

The subcommittee action restoring 32 million of the 58 million House cut in the department's budget is subject to review when the full Appropriations Committee votes on the bill tomorrow.

Maurice H. Stans, deputy postmaster general, told reporters that any money not restored would be added to the amount requested in a supplemental money bill. Summerfield said this measure will be sent to Congress by the Budget Bureau in about 10 days.

Enlisted Technicians Get Pay Increases

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The Defense Department today ordered pay raises for 350,000 enlisted technicians. It ignored a high level plea for a wholesale overhaul of the military pay system.

Secretary of Defense Wilson disclosed the raises, ranging from $12 to $50 monthly for about 15 per cent of the enlisted strength.

They were among the recommendations in the final report of a committee appointed by Wilson and headed by President Ralph Cordiner of the General Electric Co.

The Defense Department said that the pay increases for hard-to-get and hard-to-hold enlisted specialists would total about 49 million dollars the first year.

Malone Would Erase Censure Of Sen. M'Carthy

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Sen. Malone (R-Nev) today asked the Senate "to expunge" its condemnation of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), voted 67-22 on Dec. 2, 1954.

Malone, long-time friend of McCarthy, said the censure action was taken during a period of emotionalism and set a "dangerous precedent." He told his colleagues that McCarthy, who died last week, may prove to be "greater in death than in life."

Malone said he hoped those who pushed the censure resolution would now propose a resolution to strike the matter from official Senate records. If they do not do so within a "reasonable time," he said, he will offer such a resolution himself.

Malone's proposal brought a reply from Sen. Morse (D-Ore) that it would be improper to "expunge" something from American history.

British Pacifist Prepared To Die In H-Test Protest

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—Harold Steele, a British pacifist, kissed his three children goodby today and set out to do his bit against what he regards as the evil of the British H-bomb tests.

A 63-year-old retired poultry farmer who was a conscientious objector in World War I, Steele said he is prepared if necessary to die alone on a Pacific atoll in protest against the explosions British scientists expect to touch off at Christmas Island next month.

Steele leaves London by plane tomorrow for New Delhi on the first stage of a trip he hopes will take him to the danger area in time to subject himself to the hazards of blast and fall-out.

"I willingly sacrifice myself to prove to the world the horror of this devilish thing," he told reporters.

He wanted to ship aboard a suicidal "peace fleet" which the Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs proposed to send in. But the Council, in the face of such things as Britain's warning to all shipping to stay clear, dropped the cruise idea yesterday.

Reporters here told Steele of the cancellation.

"Then if necessary I will sail alone into the Christmas Island area," he said. "I can still handle a sailing craft. Or perhaps I could get some vessel to drop me on an atoll in the area where I could sit out the tests and if necessary die in them."

Steele's wife Sheila, 40, accompanied him to London from their home at Malvern, Worcestershire. She once expected to go all the way, but plans for having their children looked after fell through. So she decided to stay in England.

Union Chief's Silence Again Balks Inquiry

Declines To Try To "Blow The Lid Right Off Senate"

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Dave Beck today refused a challenge to "blow the lid right off the Senate," if he could, by revealing how his Teamster Union funds were spent.

Instead the chunky Teamsters boss again took the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Rackets Committee. He even declined to say whether he knows his own son, Dave Beck Jr.

Eventually, pleading that he wasn't feeling too well, the millionaire labor leader left the televised hearing for the privacy of his hotel room.

The committee proceeded to draw from Stewart Ormsby Krieger, a Teamsters accountant, the testimony that he got $15,375 in salary and expense money from the union over 18 months in which he worked almost exclusively for the Beck family's beer business.

Beck Keeps Promise

Just before the hearings began, Beck told newsmen: "I'll be one of the most silent witnesses you ever were in contact with." He kept this promise pretty well.

In renewing the Senate inquiry into Beck's affairs, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said his committee intends to produce new evidence to support allegations that Beck made "improper use" of union funds and abused his power as president of the biggest union in the country.

McClellan also said the investigators would go into the activities of "certain businessmen who are willing, for the sake of a few dollars, to make 'deals' of a highly improper nature." The Senate group has broad authority to investigate rackets in the labor-management field.

After making his opening statement, McClellan harked back to an interview in Galveston, Tex., April 15 in which Beck said he was "taking the rap" before the Senate committee "to avoid embarrassing a lot of fine people."

Contributions Mentioned

Beck was quoted as saying he would "blow the lid right off the Senate" should he reveal how union funds were spent. Asked at that time whether he meant contributions to members of Congress Beck was quoted as saying "If I start talking about contributions a lot of fine people would be embarrassed."

The Teamsters boss has since claimed he was misquoted, and he refused to confirm today that he had made any lid blowing remarks to reporters. In fact, he wouldn't say anything about the matter.

"I don't think the committee is impressed very much that you could blow the lid off," McClellan commented dryly.

The senator added that this was Beck's "opportunity to make any statement that might embarrass 'some mighty fine people,' as you put it."

Russia Rejects Atom Test Plan

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—The Soviet Union rejected today a Western proposal that the United Nations be given advance notice of all nuclear weapons tests.

The Russians have conducted 11 unannounced nuclear tests since August.

Valerian Zorin, Soviet delegate on the subcommittee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission blasted the proposal as "taking us no farther towards even a temporary suspension of H-bomb tests."

Zorin then read into the record of the six-week disarmament meetings lengthy statistics and information on effects of fall-out from nuclear tests.

Much of his information, he said, came from Western publications and other sources.

Harold Stassen U.S. delegate and special disarmament advisor to President Eisenhower quoted from an American scientific paper that the total radiation of all nuclear tests thus far is no more than the exposure an individual would get if he moved 300 feet into the air.

Britain authored the advance notification plan rejected by Zorin. However, a source inside the committee said the meeting also discussed similar proposals by Japan, India, Norway and Yugoslavia.

Higher Food Bill Blamed On Marketing Cost Rise

Wage And Tax Increases Also Factors In Hike

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Grocerymen said today it's not new style "convenience foods" which are responsible for higher family grocery bills. They blamed increased marketing costs, wages and business taxes.

Modern grocery products, with "built-in kitchen and maid services," in many cases actually cost the housewife less than if she bought the raw ingredients, it was contended.

Robert H. Bingham, administrative vice president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, gave a House Agriculture subcommittee the groceryman's view of the food cost picture.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Anfuso (D-NY), is hunting reasons for the climb in food prices while farm prices show a relative drop.

Bingham said the market "spread"—the difference between what the farmer receives and what the housewife pays at the grocery store—represents the cost of processing, packaging and getting farm commodities to the market.

He said the "spread" has helped to create a mass market for food that has raised the value of farm products sold for domestic food consumption from 5 billion dollars in 1939 to nearly 19 billion dollars in 1956.

To help expand the mass food market, Bingham testified, processors and distributors also are spending 100 million dollars a year on research and more than a billion a year on advertising.

In 1946 the marketing spread was $370 of the amount the housewife spent on the average family market basket. In 1956 it was $590, an increase of $220, Bingham said.

"About 80 per cent of that $220 increase is accounted for by three factors—the higher cost of wages, corporate profit taxes, and transportation. Perhaps we should say two factors, because wage and tax cost increases are largely responsible for the transportation cost increase," he said.

MADISON, Wis., May 8 (AP) — A Republican leader of the Wisconsin Legislature today verified reports that measures now are being drafted to permit the governor to appoint a successor to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), who died last week.

Under present law, the governor either may leave the seat vacant until the term ends—in this case, next year—or may call a special election to fill it.

Fugitive Trio Eludes Police

JESSUP, Md., May 8 (AP)—Three inmates who escaped last night from the Patuxent Institute—a combination hospital and prison for mentally defective and psychotic lawbreakers—continued today to elude a posse of State Police.

Institute spokesmen described the trio as dangerous and advised police to take every precaution in the search.

The three escaped through a hole in a building where workmen had been installing an air conditioning unit. State Police who searched all night thought the trio was headed for Baltimore along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks and had hopes of picking them up when the sun came up.

But the three remained at large late today.

The three were identified as Talmage Pearson, 22, Negro; Johnny Montgomery, 21, Negro, and Bruce W. Bowersox, 20, all of Baltimore.

B&O Asks Authority To Discontinue Run

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—The Public Service Commission was told today that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is losing $71,000 annually on its passenger service between Wheeling and Fairmont.

The B&O seeks authority to discontinue its passenger runs between the two cities. B&O officials told the PSC that the railroad has been losing money on its passenger operations between Fairmont and Wheeling for the past 10 years.

They said the railroad has had an average of 23 passengers per trip on each train.

Turnbull Will Not Reveal Political Plans At Dinner

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — Sen. John Grason Turnbull said today he will not "make any political announcement or make a political speech" at a dinner in his honor here May 27.

The Baltimore County Democrat, three-time majority floor leader in the State Senate, has been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for Statewide office in 1958.

When friends announced last weekend they planned to give Turnbull a testimonial dinner, politicians speculated he might announce at the dinner as a candidate in the primary for U. S. Senator, governor or attorney general.

Ike's Helicopters Practice Landings Near White House

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP) — President Eisenhower's much-publicized helicopters today began a program of practice landings in a spacious park just south of the White House grounds.

The President did not take part in the training exercise. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower plans to make his first flight in one of the "whirlybirds" in mid-July during the annual Operation Alert.

In that operation, the President and other key administration officials will be "evacuated" from Washington to secret emergency headquarters under conditions of mock attack by an enemy.

Hagerty announced some time ago that the Air Force was acquiring two helicopters for the White House—one for use by the President and the other by escorting Secret Service agents. Manufactured by the Bell Aircraft firm, the four-passenger copters are estimated to cost $201,000 with spare parts.

In addition to planning to use the helicopters in any emergency evacuation, the President will travel in them between the White House and National Airport. He also may travel that way to and from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Sponsor Drops Controversial Housing Plan

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The House began debating new housing legislation today and the measure's chief sponsor promptly abandoned a plan to use veterans life insurance funds to aid GI home mortgage financing.

Rep. Rains (D-Ala), saying, "I know when you can win and when you can't win," told the House he would not oppose a motion to kill the disputed section of the bill.

Rains said he still favors the plan as an "innovation to get new money behind veterans loans without affecting the budget." But he added, "I am realistic and I don't think the House will pass it."

Use of a billion dollars of National Service Life Insurance trust funds for loans to GI home buyers was one of three veterans sections in the bill opposed by Republicans and some Democrats, including members of the House Veterans Committee.

The other disputed sections would (1) set up a veterans preference system within the Federal Housing Administration loan-insuranec program, and (2) give FHA and the Veterans Administration authority to limit discounts on fees charged veterans seeking government-backed loans.

Rains, chief sponsor of the housing bill approved by the House Banking Committee, called the measure a "middle-of-the-road bill" designed to "give impetus to the lagging housing industry and at the same time stay within the inflationary limits."

Latest Texas Flood Spreads

DALLAS, May 8 (AP)—The flooding lower Brazos River closed more highways today and continued to menace towns and rural areas. Flood victims today told Bill Lee of the Angleton TImes that they lived on boiled armadillos and turnip greens while marooned three or four days by high water in the Angleton area.

Prison authorities expressed fear of a typhoid epidemic among convicts. Several prison farms in the area are flooded.

The flood, latest in Texas' three weeks of high water, lapped into a State Prison farm cell block, spread over 100 square miles of land and drove at least 125 families from their homes.

It centered around Angleton-East Columbia-West Columbia, less than 50 miles southwest of Houston. The river was 13 miles wide in the area, and was within 2 miles of Angleton. The town is 12 miles from the river bed.

Water rose into the lawns of stately old mansions at East Columbia. The Red Cross moved in railway boxcars to care for many refugees, while other flood victims moved in with relatives and friends.

Downriver at Lake Jackson, water spilled into a residential section from Oyster Creek, a tributary of the Brazos.

Lee said "the flood is no better, maybe a little worse today. Two more roads were closed today—the old Clute Road and Highway 35 between West Columbia and Angleton."

D.C. Negotiating For Water Tap Site

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission is negotiating for a 35-acre tract for its Potomac River water tap.

The site, the agency announced, is about halfway between Travilah and Potomac, Md., and has about 2,000 feet of frontage on River Road and about 1,900 feet on the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

The owners of the land were identified as heirs of the estate of Carl A. Hellmann. The amount offered for the site was not disclosed.

Faculty Group Is Called "Naive" In Naming Negro

AUSTIN, Tex., May 8 (AP) — The University of Texas student newspaper today said the faculty committee which named a Negro coed to sing the lead in an undergraduate opera displayed "striking naivete."

"They — the committee—should have known the temper of the times," the Daily Texan editorial said.

Miss Barbara Louise Smith, 19, Pittsburg, Tex., was removed from the student opera production "Dido and Aeneas" after State Rep. Joe Chapman said he asked she be removed. He said he told the university president, Logan Wilson:

"The people of Texas don't want mixing of Negroes and whites publicly and the University of Texas should not do it from that standpoint."

Chapman is a leader of the segregation bloc.

University Regent's Chairman Leroy Jeffers of Houston was quoted by the Texan as saying the administration's decision to remove Miss Smith was not because of "legislature pressure."

Other university officials have refused to comment.

Speaking of the opera cast selection committee, the Texan editorial said:

"Even last October, it was no secret that some members of the Legislature were planning the — segregation — bills now being considered. Even if the girl chosen had the best voice, and we do not doubt that she did, it would have seemed only the better part of discretion and wisdom not to have cast her in a romantic role opposite a white male lead."

Miss Smith was reluctant to say specifically why she was taken out, except to say that it was not her singing ability.

British-German Chiefs End Talk

BONN, Germany, May 8 (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer ended their private talks tonight amid indications they had gone far in resolving deep differences over Western defense.

A diplomatic informant said the two started out their conference yesterday "miles apart" but that they moved "much closer together" by the finish.

The difference was over the British plan—already under way—to withdraw nearly 30,000 men from the British army in Germany and trim the supporting tactical air force by nearly half. The first instalment of 13,500 troops already has started moving home.

Adenauer appealed to Macmillan to hold up any more troops withdrawals until a searching NATO review of the European defense position has been completed.

Macmillan countered that German fears were "exaggerated" and that the four British divisions remaining in Germany would have a much bigger punch with atomic missiles.

Indonesians Regret Slight To U.S. Envoy

JAKARTA, Indonesia, May 8 (AP)—It was Indonesia's turn today to express regret over an incident marring United States-Indonesian relations.

U. S. Ambassador and Mrs. John Allison walked out of a reception for Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov last night because no seats had been provided for them.

Allison discussed the case with Foreign Minister Subandrio today. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the incident was "regretted," but did not say whether there had been an apology by the Indonesian government.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said the Allisons arrived at the time specified for President Sukarno's reception for the visiting Voroshilov, but found the program already in progress. A Foreign Office official ushered them to the front row—where there were no seats — and left them standing there.

Indonesian officials said there had been "an unfortunate sudden change" in the reception's time schedule and that the Alissons were 30 minutes late.

Yesterday it was disclosed that a U. S. Marine guard at the embassy had been arrested by Indonesian police for tearing down Indonesian and Soviet flags erected on a lamppost in downtown Jakarta in honor of Voroshilov's 12-day visit. The Marine, whose name was not released, was turned loose and Western diplomats described the case as a "drunken prank."

U.S. Churches Agree On Welfare Policy

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 8 (AP) — Representatives of major American Protestant churches today agreed for the first time in history on a common policy for social welfare.

About 400 delegates to a policy conference of the National Council of Churches overwhelmingly approved a broad charter to govern the billion-dollar welfare enterprise of 30 denominations.

Delegates to the conference represent almost 37 million Protestants.

Approval of the policy statement by the conference means it now must be adopted by the Council and its member churches before it can become effective.

Under present law, the governor either may leave the seat vacant until the term ends—in this case, next year—or may call a special election to fill it.

Shelters To Be Tested

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 8 (AP)—Atomic bomb shelters ranging from the small family type to dome structures for mass protection will be tested in the series of nuclear explosions beginning May 16.

B&O Asks Authority To Discontinue Run

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—The Public Service Commission was told today that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is losing $71,000 annually on its passenger service between Wheeling and Fairmont.

The B&O seeks authority to discontinue its passenger runs between the two cities. B&O officials told the PSC that the railroad has been losing money on its passenger operations between Fairmont and Wheeling for the past 10 years.

They said the railroad has had an average of 23 passengers per trip on each train.

Turnbull Will Not Reveal Political Plans At Dinner

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — Sen. John Grason Turnbull said today he will not "make any political announcement or make a political speech" at a dinner in his honor here May 27.

The Baltimore County Democrat, three-time majority floor leader in the State Senate, has been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for Statewide office in 1958.

When friends announced last weekend they planned to give Turnbull a testimonial dinner, politicians speculated he might announce at the dinner as a candidate in the primary for U. S. Senator, governor or attorney general.

Ike's Helicopters Practice Landings Near White House

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP) — President Eisenhower's much-publicized helicopters today began a program of practice landings in a spacious park just south of the White House grounds.

The President did not take part in the training exercise. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower plans to make his first flight in one of the "whirlybirds" in mid-July during the annual Operation Alert.

In that operation, the President and other key administration officials will be "evacuated" from Washington to secret emergency headquarters under conditions of mock attack by an enemy.

Hagerty announced some time ago that the Air Force was acquiring two helicopters for the White House—one for use by the President and the other by escorting Secret Service agents. Manufactured by the Bell Aircraft firm, the four-passenger copters are estimated to cost $201,000 with spare parts.

In addition to planning to use the helicopters in any emergency evacuation, the President will travel in them between the White House and National Airport. He also may travel that way to and from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Sponsor Drops Controversial Housing Plan

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The House began debating new housing legislation today and the measure's chief sponsor promptly abandoned a plan to use veterans life insurance funds to aid GI home mortgage financing.

Rep. Rains (D-Ala), saying, "I know when you can win and when you can't win," told the House he would not oppose a motion to kill the disputed section of the bill.

Rains said he still favors the plan as an "innovation to get new money behind veterans loans without affecting the budget." But he added, "I am realistic and I don't think the House will pass it."

Use of a billion dollars of National Service Life Insurance trust funds for loans to GI home buyers was one of three veterans sections in the bill opposed by Republicans and some Democrats, including members of the House Veterans Committee.

The other disputed sections would (1) set up a veterans preference system within the Federal Housing Administration loan-insuranec program, and (2) give FHA and the Veterans Administration authority to limit discounts on fees charged veterans seeking government-backed loans.

Rains, chief sponsor of the housing bill approved by the House Banking Committee, called the measure a "middle-of-the-road bill" designed to "give impetus to the lagging housing industry and at the same time stay within the inflationary limits."

Latest Texas Flood Spreads

DALLAS, May 8 (AP)—The flooding lower Brazos River closed more highways today and continued to menace towns and rural areas. Flood victims today told Bill Lee of the Angleton TImes that they lived on boiled armadillos and turnip greens while marooned three or four days by high water in the Angleton area.

Prison authorities expressed fear of a typhoid epidemic among convicts. Several prison farms in the area are flooded.

The flood, latest in Texas' three weeks of high water, lapped into a State Prison farm cell block, spread over 100 square miles of land and drove at least 125 families from their homes.

It centered around Angleton-East Columbia-West Columbia, less than 50 miles southwest of Houston. The river was 13 miles wide in the area, and was within 2 miles of Angleton. The town is 12 miles from the river bed.

Water rose into the lawns of stately old mansions at East Columbia. The Red Cross moved in railway boxcars to care for many refugees, while other flood victims moved in with relatives and friends.

Downriver at Lake Jackson, water spilled into a residential section from Oyster Creek, a tributary of the Brazos.

Lee said "the flood is no better, maybe a little worse today. Two more roads were closed today—the old Clute Road and Highway 35 between West Columbia and Angleton."

D.C. Negotiating For Water Tap Site

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission is negotiating for a 35-acre tract for its Potomac River water tap.

The site, the agency announced, is about halfway between Travilah and Potomac, Md., and has about 2,000 feet of frontage on River Road and about 1,900 feet on the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

The owners of the land were identified as heirs of the estate of Carl A. Hellmann. The amount offered for the site was not disclosed.

RIOTERS SPRAYED — Colombian police riot truck sprays stream of red-dyed water over demonstrators and stalled vehicles in Bogota to break up anti-government student demonstration. Red dye in water was used to mark demonstrators and vehicles—left in streets to block passage of government riot squads—for future identification. Riots and a general strike have wracked Colombia over President Gustave Rojas Pinilla's plan to have himself reelected by hand-picked cronies. (AP Photofax)

Faculty Group Is Called "Naive" In Naming Negro

AUSTIN, Tex., May 8 (AP) — The University of Texas student newspaper today said the faculty committee which named a Negro coed to sing the lead in an undergraduate opera displayed "striking naivete."

"They — the committee—should have known the temper of the times," the Daily Texan editorial said.

Miss Barbara Louise Smith, 19, Pittsburg, Tex., was removed from the student opera production "Dido and Aeneas" after State Rep. Joe Chapman said he asked she be removed. He said he told the university president, Logan Wilson:

"The people of Texas don't want mixing of Negroes and whites publicly and the University of Texas should not do it from that standpoint."

Chapman is a leader of the segregation bloc.

University Regent's Chairman Leroy Jeffers of Houston was quoted by the Texan as saying the administration's decision to remove Miss Smith was not because of "legislature pressure."

Other university officials have refused to comment.

Speaking of the opera cast selection committee, the Texan editorial said:

"Even last October, it was no secret that some members of the Legislature were planning the — segregation — bills now being considered. Even if the girl chosen had the best voice, and we do not doubt that she did, it would have seemed only the better part of discretion and wisdom not to have cast her in a romantic role opposite a white male lead."

Miss Smith was reluctant to say specifically why she was taken out, except to say that it was not her singing ability.

Saudi Arabia Protests

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—Saudi Arabia today made its second protest to the U. N. against Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba. It said Israeli gunboats had violated its territorial waters.

British-German Chiefs End Talk

BONN, Germany, May 8 (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer ended their private talks tonight amid indications they had gone far in resolving deep differences over Western defense.

A diplomatic informant said the two started out their conference yesterday "miles apart" but that they moved "much closer together" by the finish.

The difference was over the British plan—already under way—to withdraw nearly 30,000 men from the British army in Germany and trim the supporting tactical air force by nearly half. The first instalment of 13,500 troops already has started moving home.

Adenauer appealed to Macmillan to hold up any more troops withdrawals until a searching NATO review of the European defense position has been completed.

Macmillan countered that German fears were "exaggerated" and that the four British divisions remaining in Germany would have a much bigger punch with atomic missiles.

Indonesians Regret Slight To U.S. Envoy

JAKARTA, Indonesia, May 8 (AP)—It was Indonesia's turn today to express regret over an incident marring United States-Indonesian relations.

U. S. Ambassador and Mrs. John Allison walked out of a reception for Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov last night because no seats had been provided for them.

Allison discussed the case with Foreign Minister Subandrio today. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the incident was "regretted," but did not say whether there had been an apology by the Indonesian government.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said the Allisons arrived at the time specified for President Sukarno's reception for the visiting Voroshilov, but found the program already in progress. A Foreign Office official ushered them to the front row—where there were no seats — and left them standing there.

Indonesian officials said there had been "an unfortunate sudden change" in the reception's time schedule and that the Alissons were 30 minutes late.

Yesterday it was disclosed that a U. S. Marine guard at the embassy had been arrested by Indonesian police for tearing down Indonesian and Soviet flags erected on a lamppost in downtown Jakarta in honor of Voroshilov's 12-day visit. The Marine, whose name was not released, was turned loose and Western diplomats described the case as a "drunken prank."

U.S. Churches Agree On Welfare Policy

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 8 (AP) — Representatives of major American Protestant churches today agreed for the first time in history on a common policy for social welfare.

About 400 delegates to a policy conference of the National Council of Churches overwhelmingly approved a broad charter to govern the billion-dollar welfare enterprise of 30 denominations.

Delegates to the conference represent almost 37 million Protestants.

Approval of the policy statement by the conference means it now must be adopted by the Council and its member churches before it can become effective.

Sheriff Denies Prisoners Come, Go As They Please

ANNAPOLIS, May 8 (AP)—"Ridiculous," Sheriff Joseph W. Alton Jr. replied today to charges that prisoners at the Anne Arundel County jail come and go as they please, drive county cars and "just love it there."

Ralph L. Lowman, president of the Board of County Commissioners, made the charges last week while Alton was out of town.

The sheriff, who he did not wish to engage in a personality clash with Lowman, emphatically denied that prisoners are furnished keys to the antiquated jail.

"And as for them driving county cars," the sheriff added, "I can recall only two or three occasions when trusties were permitted to chauffeur automobiles on county business.

Alton, a leader of the county's Republican forces, said he believed Lowman was trying to use jail problem as a political football. Lowman is a Democrat.

"Everyone knows we need a new jail and that includes Mr. Lowman," the sheriff said. "To cloud the issue with unfounded accusations does nothing but impede progress in that direction."

Earlier today, Lowman said a Negro prisoner serving time in the jail "went home" last week and beat up his wife. He alleged the woman swore out a warrant for his arrest and the man was taken from the jail to stand trial.

To that charge, Alton said any information regarding irregularities at the county jail should be referred to the grand jury.

Fire Destroys Negro Church

GERMANTOWN, Md., May 8 (AP)—A fire of undetermined origin, which broke out twice within three hours, early today destroyed a one-room Negro church on Black Rock Road two miles west of here.

Gaithersburg and Rockville firemen extinguished the first vlaze, which firemen said began an hour after the end of an evening choir meeting.

Gaithersburg volunteer firemen returned at 1:15 a. m. and found flames shooting 50 feet into the air. Unable to stem the second blaze, the firemen stood by to keep the fire from spreading. County police and fire authorities said they are investigating the possibility of arson. Loss was estimated at $3,500.

No Limit On Noise

TEL AVIV, Israel, May 8 (AP)—Eliahu Migdal was accused of disturbing the peace with a noisy card game on his balcony late at night. A magistrate's court acquitted him. "There is no lawful limit on the amount of noise a person may make on his own balcony," the court ruled.

Two W.Va. Taverns Lose Their Licenses

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—The licenses of two West Virginia taverns were revoked today, effective immediately, State Beer Commissioner Roy D. Platt announced.

The license of Elizabeth Bailey, operator of the Cyclone Tavern at Cyclone, Wyoming County, was revoked and her $500 bond forfeited. She was accused of selling beer to minors.

American Legion Post No. 14 in Martinsburg lost its tavern license but no bond was forfeited. The tavern was accused of unlawful sale and possession of alcoholic liquor.

Effects Of High Altitudes On Dogs Studied At U. Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 8 (AP)—The effects of high altitudes on dogs will be studied by University of Maryland researchers with a $64,000 grant announced today from the U.S. Public Health Service.

Recent studies directed by Profs. Dietrich C. Smith, associate dean, and Frederick P. Ferguson, has indicated that the amount of potassium in blood samples of dogs at high altitudes may be a clue to physical stress and physiological changes caused by oxygen deficiency.

Without leaving the laboratory of the university's Department of Physiology, dogs make daily flights to altitudes up to 50,000 feet. The experiments are painless for the canines.

An autoclave, normally used for sterilizing medical equipment, has been modified for the flight chamber. An electric pump is attached and the pressure of high altitudes can be simulated in a matter of minutes.

"Recently," Dr. Smith said, "we found that by measuring the potassium concentration from a blood sample of a dog while the animal was at a simulated altitude, we could learn about how well the animal was adapting to the low oxygen supply. . . .

"The amount of potassium in the blood begins to rise when the animal is in danger of collapsing from the effects of the altitude."

He said the new grant "will enable us to continue our investigation of potassium concentration and how the body adapts to the stress."

Forester Warns Of Fire Danger

ANNAPOLIS, May 8 (AP)—State Forester H. C. Buckingham warned today that Maryland is dry as a tinderbox and could erupt any time into forest and brush fires.

"We've had less than half an inch of rain in the last month, and fire danger is at a peak," Buckingham said. "Even green grass will burn with a little heat applied to it."

He said there should be no burning of trash at all near woodlands or brush "until we have some rain."

Buckingham said that so far during the spring season there have been 244 woods fires but none of a major nature. The largest was a 100-acre blaze in Garrett County two days ago which Buckingham said resulted from a careless smoker.

Mother Bird Halts Work On Highway

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 8 (AP)—A mother bird and her prospective family of four—now just eggs — has stopped bulldozers and other road building equipment.

The birds, killdeers which customarily nest on the ground, were found smack in the path of the new Columbia Road being cut through on the north side of town.

Superintendent William Henson of the Street Department ordered work halted until the eggs have hatched. No one knew how long that might be because there was no indication of when Momma Killdeer laid the eggs.

Baltimore Heliport Will Be Opened Soon

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — The first heliport in Baltimore will be opened on the end of a pier in the harbor about May 20, subject to CAA approval, the Department of Aviation announced today.

In asking cooperation of other city departments, the announcement said the city's initial municipal heliport would be operated on a trial basis on space made available at the end of Pier 6.

"We will seek other helistops as traffic may demand," John O. Colonna, director of aviation said.

Colonna said two firms expect to start helicopter service this summer. Chesapeake and Potomac Helicopters will base its planes at Friendship International Airport and the other firm is Pilgrim Helicopers of Washington.

It was understood the two firms plan to provide all types of service, passenger as well as cargo.

The Department of aviation currently runs heliports at Friendship and Harbor Field for routine airport operations.

Effects Of High Altitudes On Dogs Studied At U. Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 8 (AP)—The effects of high altitudes on dogs will be studied by University of Maryland researchers with a $64,000 grant announced today from the U.S. Public Health Service.

Recent studies directed by Profs. Dietrich C. Smith, associate dean, and Frederick P. Ferguson, has indicated that the amount of potassium in blood samples of dogs at high altitudes may be a clue to physical stress and physiological changes caused by oxygen deficiency.

Without leaving the laboratory of the university's Department of Physiology, dogs make daily flights to altitudes up to 50,000 feet. The experiments are painless for the canines.

An autoclave, normally used for sterilizing medical equipment, has been modified for the flight chamber. An electric pump is attached and the pressure of high altitudes can be simulated in a matter of minutes.

"Recently," Dr. Smith said, "we found that by measuring the potassium concentration from a blood sample of a dog while the animal was at a simulated altitude, we could learn about how well the animal was adapting to the low oxygen supply. . . .

"The amount of potassium in the blood begins to rise when the animal is in danger of collapsing from the effects of the altitude."

He said the new grant "will enable us to continue our investigation of potassium concentration and how the body adapts to the stress."

Forester Warns Of Fire Danger

ANNAPOLIS, May 8 (AP)—State Forester H. C. Buckingham warned today that Maryland is dry as a tinderbox and could erupt any time into forest and brush fires.

"We've had less than half an inch of rain in the last month, and fire danger is at a peak," Buckingham said. "Even green grass will burn with a little heat applied to it."

He said there should be no burning of trash at all near woodlands or brush "until we have some rain."

Buckingham said that so far during the spring season there have been 244 woods fires but none of a major nature. The largest was a 100-acre blaze in Garrett County two days ago which Buckingham said resulted from a careless smoker.

Mother Bird Halts Work On Highway

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 8 (AP)—A mother bird and her prospective family of four—now just eggs — has stopped bulldozers and other road building equipment.

The birds, killdeers which customarily nest on the ground, were found smack in the path of the new Columbia Road being cut through on the north side of town.

Superintendent William Henson of the Street Department ordered work halted until the eggs have hatched. No one knew how long that might be because there was no indication of when Momma Killdeer laid the eggs.

Baltimore Heliport Will Be Opened Soon

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — The first heliport in Baltimore will be opened on the end of a pier in the harbor about May 20, subject to CAA approval, the Department of Aviation announced today.

In asking cooperation of other city departments, the announcement said the city's initial municipal heliport would be operated on a trial basis on space made available at the end of Pier 6.

"We will seek other helistops as traffic may demand," John O. Colonna, director of aviation said.

Colonna said two firms expect to start helicopter service this summer. Chesapeake and Potomac Helicopters will base its planes at Friendship International Airport and the other firm is Pilgrim Helicopers of Washington.

It was understood the two firms plan to provide all types of service, passenger as well as cargo.

The Department of aviation currently runs heliports at Friendship and Harbor Field for routine airport operations.

NEW YORK, May 8 (INS) — The passing show....

In church the other day a mother with a restless, talkative little boy seemed so upset by the child that I thought she might strike him. Every once in a while, when he crawled down beneath the bench, she'd pull him up and set him down with a bang. She shushed him when he said "Mama," and scolded him when he looked fondly at the father sitting next to him and waved and said, during the sermon, "Daddy!"

I kept thinking of an incident on a plane not long ago. A well-dressed woman carried a handsome little boy of two or three in her arms to a seat and placed the child on her lap. The husband, having put the bags in the rack up front, came back, kissed her goodbye, bent over the silent child, and said, slowly and fondly —stretching out each word—"we will go swimming soon, right, son?" The child started back, uncomprehensively.

The father left the plane and stood behind the wire outside, waving until we started. The child, implored to wave back, remained motionless. There must have been a 15 minute wait. During the last five minutes the mother of the boy held him to the plane window and whispered, "Say bye-bye.. say bye-bye .. say daddy. .daa-deee."

The poor little guy gurgled a bit but could make no other sound. The propellors spun and we moved away. The father was still waving.

Michael J. Ready, Catholic bishop of Columbus, O., who died late last week, was a remarkably learned and personable man who made and kept thousands of friends in all walks and sects of life. During the troubles his church had in Mexico years ago, he roamed through that country "looking like a bum," as he put it, getting a first hand account of the murders of priests and nuns. One slip and he himself would have died.

He was an extraordinarily handsome man, as well as a bright and good one. And he must have retained his lively sense of humor to the end. Years ago, when he was a monsignor, I took him to dinner at Toots Shor's and, emboldened by the atmosphere, or something, said I thought bishops should discourage the kissing of their rings by the pious.

Lo and behold, Ready made bishop a few months later. My wife and I were going into the dining room for the lunch that followed the Washington ceremony when the new bishop, in all his regalia, emerged from a Mayflower hotel. I got in the line waiting to congratulate him. He stuck out his friendly hand and said, "Hi, Bob."

The old ring which he had been given — witness of who knows what ecclesiastical adventures—glittered as he extended his hand. I looked at it a moment, said, "Well, once for luck," and bent over to kiss it.

When I was within perhaps half an inch of it, the bishop brought it up with a snappy little right uppercut that caught me right on the jaw—something like the one that later hit Gene Fullmer.

"Don't you remember Toots'?" he whispered, bending over me at a benign angle.

Wonderful man.

Henry Roberts, owner of all prognosticating rights to Nostradamus, the 16th Century seer, writes me that his boy predicted the recent comet and adjacent events. What Nostry wrote was "the eye of the object shall make such an escrescence and so great will be the trembling of the earth that hail will fall bigger than eggs .... burning shall fall the snow at the time...the great star shall burn for the space of seven days in May."

Well, the comet showed up, Russia shook the earth with more H-bomb tests, we announced we'd do the same in Nevada in a more discreet way, hail big as eggs fell in some places, and there was much talk about radioactive fallout "burning shall fall the snow."

Make your little girl's hair a mother-and-daughter affair.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Care For The Little Girl's Hair

The popularity of mother-and-daughter fashions means many a family assignment for the Powers Girls and their young daughters. The little girls love it, and the mothers are in their glory.

I always get letters asking questions about children's hair. Is daily brushing necessary? What is the best shampoo? Can a little bleach be used for blonds and the light brown-haired? Should children be given permanents?

Never Too Early

We believe that hair beauty education should begin early. Yes, daily brushing is advisable for the little girl's hair to establish the first of the beauty habits she should continue through life. Make the little girl feel that it's all very grown-up and important by making the brushing a daily rite you two enjoy together. The brushing-dry cleans her soft, fine hair, distributes the scalp oil, and stimulates circulation to benefit her just as it does you. Use a brush with medium stiff bristles and teach her to do her own brushing as soon as she can.

Her shampoos should be given weekly with liquid castile or lanolin creamy whip. If she has light hair, use a lemon rinse. Add a tablespoon of strained lemon juice to a glass of warm water, saturate the hair, and rinse with clear water.

After rinsing, wrap the child's head in an absorbent towel and blot excess moisture. Never rub, because rubbing breaks and tangles the hair. Have her hair cut by a professional who's expert with children; and if curls are becoming, a soft pin-curl permanent will do no harm.

Sewage Plant Talks Set Here Today

Discussions here today might give the answer to when the city's new $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant will go into operation.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he, engineer Robert T. Regester, advisory supervisor and advisor; representatives of the Moyer Brothers Construction Company, contractor; city auditor Arthur B. Gibson, city Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, Mayor Roy W. Eves and other members of council who wish to attend, are to discuss the project.

The plant had been scheduled to go into operation March 15, but weather, among other things, forced the delay, Buchholtz added.

The bell of the Flatbush Reformed Church in New York City — hung in 1796 — has tolled for the funeral of every United States President.

Water To Be Cut Off During Cut-In Project

Residents along the city's main water line are being asked to conserve water Friday morning while the final cut-in is made at Lake Gordon in connection with the filter alteration project.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said yesterday work on the final phase of this project will begin about 7.30 a. m. and probably be finished by 1 p. m. The work involves turning water through new pipes into the flocculating basin.

While work is under way, water pressure will be low. In some sections of Bedford Road, direct notification will be made, Edwards added.

As far as the filter alteration project is concerned, Friday morning's cut-in will mark the completion. However, Edwards added there are a number of improvements which have been suggested elsewhere in the plant for consideration at a future date.

Water To Be Cut Off During Cut-In Project

Residents along the city's main water line are being asked to conserve water Friday morning while the final cut-in is made at Lake Gordon in connection with the filter alteration project.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said yesterday work on the final phase of this project will begin about 7.30 a. m. and probably be finished by 1 p. m. The work involves turning water through new pipes into the flocculating basin.

While work is under way, water pressure will be low. In some sections of Bedford Road, direct notification will be made, Edwards added.

As far as the filter alteration project is concerned, Friday morning's cut-in will mark the completion. However, Edwards added there are a number of improvements which have been suggested elsewhere in the plant for consideration at a future date.

Railway Magazine Article Cites Increase Of W. Md. Stock During Past Few Years

An article in "Railway Progress," a monthly magazine published for the railroad industry, states that keen-minded investors trebled their money in Western Maryland Railway common stock between 1954 and 1956 due to certain special features of this unusual eastern carrier.

The article states that the WM operates 846 miles of line from Baltimore westward, its main line down into the West Virginia coal fields and up to a junction with western connections at Connellsville, Pa.

Midway in this stretch, it gathers sizeable interchange from the B&O (which owns 43 per cent of the WM stock) and Norfolk and Western for transhipment to Philadelphia and New York, primarily via the Reading Railroad.

Two-thirds of the total tonnage is received from connections, most of it "overhead business" in which WM acts as a bridge between carriers. Thus, costly terminal handling is eliminated and nearly half the total is coal.

The article continues:

"This combination, fortified by complete dieselization and the virtual absence of passenger business, makes for economical operation in spite of steep mountain grades. The ratio of transportation expense to revenues is about six percentage points less than the national average; the profit margin before income taxes is about twice as great.

"Of course, excellent operating ratios depend on revenue growth as well as cost control, and if Western Maryland's revenue trend is not much better than average, it is one of the best in the east. The reasons are threefold: while national coal production lagged after the war, West Virginia output was rising (and has continued to boom); the short route formed with the Nickel Plate and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia for movements to and from the midwest has added appreciable to total volume; and the growing importance of Baltimore in foreign trade has given a notable lift to traffic, particularly iron ore imports.

"Its association with the coal and steel industries makes for cyclical earnings swings, but Western Maryland never failed to show black figures, even during the depression. Profits were slim, however, on the preferred stock until 1936, while arrears mounted steeply at the rate of $7 a year. Although earnings spurted after the war, the common stock languished in the market as plans for eliminating the arrears by recapitalization were rebuffed. As late as 1954 it sold at only two times its earnings of $10.77.

To close students of the road's affairs, however, it seemed plain that something would soon be done. In 1955 directors hit upon a plan to clear the backlog by selling additional common stock, using the proceeds and a two-year bank loan to satisfy preferred holders' claims. By then the common was on its way, even though the loan terms called for a further delay in dividends on the stock. In the spring of last year the shares reached a price of $67.

"Quotations have eased since then, and early last month the stock sold at $58. But the loan will be paid off this year, and analysts feel the common is about to come into its own. As a dividend-paying stock, they reckon, it is unlikely to sell at less than six times its current $10-plus earning power for long. (Incidentally, such earnings are based on 24 per cent more shares than in 1954.) Moreover, prior changes will decline steadily as a result of a recently arranged refinancing of the first preferred stock.

"There are sobering considerations, to be sure. The second preferred stock is convertible into common, which could ultimately mean some earnings dilution. Moreover, dividends may be limited initially by capital requirements of an expansion program for handling growing export-import volume. But like most things about the Western Maryland, this program has favorable long-range implications, as well. For one of the most unusual features of this unusual eastern road is its potential for earnings growth.

A new electric "fire starter" for outdoor grills is now available for backyard eating. Simply plug it in and it will ignite logs, charcoal, etc., in minutes, eliminating expensive, explosive or evil-smelling chemicals. It is fast and safe. A child can use it.

Mystery 'Tourists' Are Identified As Workers Here

The mystery of the "10 tourists" who contributed $10 to the Easter Seal compaign last week has been solved.

In a letter to Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Cripple Children, the "tourists" identified themselves as construction company workers at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant and American Bridge Company workers.

An extra contribution of $45 was included with the identification letter.

Miss Lippold said yesterday that $8,539.05 had been received to date in the campaign, but added much more than this is needed to finance work of the League. She said it is hoped more than $10,000 will be included in the amount tabulated when final returns are in about June 1.

Smith Honored By GOC Group

Over 100 members of Allegany County Ground Observer Corps and their friends paid tribute to one of its organizers Tuesday at Gephart School auditorium.

A "This Is Your Life" type of program with Byron Kight acting as master of ceremonies was enacted and caught Charles G. Smith, GOC coordinator for Allegany County by surprise.

Principals in the program included Mrs. Oliver H. Smith, Mrs. George W. Legge, Miss Dorothy Willison, Mrs. Charles G. Smith, Sandra Louise Smith, Dennis Wayne Smith, William G. Barger, William A. Deremer, John Deremer, Raymond Deremer, Major Richard J. Dickson, Air Force GOC coordinator for Maryland, and Henry B. Thompson.

Smith was presented a watch by Raymond Deremer, a plaque in recognition of his GOC activities by Thompson on behalf of Sherley Ewing, Civil Defense director of Maryland. A message of congratulation was read from County Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson.

A recording of the program was made by Kenneth Shafer and presented to Smith at the close of the program.

The Allegany County GOC program instituted by Smith has received national recognition. Films of the outposts' activities were used in national GOC promotions by the Air Force.

Also present for the activities was Capt. David C. Garner, commander of the Air Defense filter center at Pittsburgh.

Oil For France

LE HAVRE, May 8 (AP)—France's oil wells in Equatorial Africa have begun to pay off. A tanker has brought in 16,000 tons of crude oil produced by wells near Port Gentile, Gabon. Officials predict that by 1960 French African and Algerian Sahara wells will yield 10 million tons of the 15 million France uses annually.

In 1956 cut flowers were the second largest air cargo carried by one of the major U. S. airlines. Machinery had first place for freight to be flown.

Railway Magazine Article Cites Increase Of W. Md. Stock During Past Few Years

An article in "Railway Progress," a monthly magazine published for the railroad industry, states that keen-minded investors trebled their money in Western Maryland Railway common stock between 1954 and 1956 due to certain special features of this unusual eastern carrier.

The article states that the WM operates 846 miles of line from Baltimore westward, its main line down into the West Virginia coal fields and up to a junction with western connections at Connellsville, Pa.

Midway in this stretch, it gathers sizeable interchange from the B&O (which owns 43 per cent of the WM stock) and Norfolk and Western for transhipment to Philadelphia and New York, primarily via the Reading Railroad.

Two-thirds of the total tonnage is received from connections, most of it "overhead business" in which WM acts as a bridge between carriers. Thus, costly terminal handling is eliminated and nearly half the total is coal.

The article continues:

"This combination, fortified by complete dieselization and the virtual absence of passenger business, makes for economical operation in spite of steep mountain grades. The ratio of transportation expense to revenues is about six percentage points less than the national average; the profit margin before income taxes is about twice as great.

"Of course, excellent operating ratios depend on revenue growth as well as cost control, and if Western Maryland's revenue trend is not much better than average, it is one of the best in the east. The reasons are threefold: while national coal production lagged after the war, West Virginia output was rising (and has continued to boom); the short route formed with the Nickel Plate and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia for movements to and from the midwest has added appreciable to total volume; and the growing importance of Baltimore in foreign trade has given a notable lift to traffic, particularly iron ore imports.

Road Work Starts At Treatment Plant

The bituminous tack coat was placed on roads and walks on the site of Cumberland's sewage treatment plant last week, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Blacktopping of the areas will follow as Moyer Brothers crews continue sodding the slopes around major structures on the 10-acre site and the outside slope of the levees which protect the plant from Potomac River floods.

Painters were busy last week on the inside of sludge beds and crews working in the brickyard area completed three sewer connections and two manholes.

At the Evitts Creek pumping station, workers poured concrete pedestals for sewage pumps, and electricians and painters were at work inside and outside the plant.

been in the establishment that evening, and had been regular customers, coming in once or twice a week during the past 10 years.

Saw No Quarreling

She said they did not appear to be quarreling and they had never created any trouble in the place. She said they both drank some beer and left.

The final witness in the trial was Trooper Carlton Lewis of the Maryland State Police, who was in the hospital room when Butler was questioned by former Piedmont Police Chief Gene Keyes and Trooper C. C. Oliver of the West Virginia State Police on December 31.

Trooper Lewis said Butler appeared conscious and coherent when questioned, and that he told police he had been drinking nearly all day, blacked out and started shooting, but didn't know why. Butler also said the victim was shot while lying on the bed.

The opening defense statement yesterday was by Joseph A. Blundon, Keyser attorney associated with Edward J. Ryan, city, as defense counsel.

Other Witnesses Testify

Blundon described the long association between Butler and the victim, and events leading up to the shooting. The first defense witness was Butler's daughter, Mrs. Virginia Strickler, who said her father and Mrs. Sharon had been associated with one another for years and that he had discussed a divorce to enable him to marry Mrs. Sharon only a few weeks before the shooting.

Mrs. Strickler said she had told him she believed their marriage would be a fine thing. Butler's son Charles was the next witness. He corroborated defense claims about the type of gun involved in the shooting and added he was present when his father was questioned at the hospital by West Virginia State Police.

He said his father was in a dazed condition and he (the son) had advised him not to answer questions without the advice of counsel. Other witnesses included Charles Spiker Jr., chief of police at Piedmont, who was a patrolman at the time of the shooting; Donald Mellor and Harley Dixon, who live nearby and heard the shots.

Hopkins Gets $50,000 Grant

A $50,000 grant to Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore is included among $2,714,411 in Rockefeller Foundation grants during the first quarter of 1957.

The five-year grant to Johns Hopkins was made to enable the department of political economy to invite distinguished economists from Japan, India and other countries to serve as visiting professors.

An outstanding graduate training center, the department already has well-established interests in India and Japan. The visiting professors, at least half of whom will come from India and Japan, will participate fully in the teaching and research programs of the department and are expected to contribute importantly to the development of its work on the political economies of other countries.

Dr. Ivan L. Bennett Jr., associate professor of medicine and head of the Biological Division, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, has received a $3,475 Rockefeller Foundation grant to consult and lecture in India on the use of antibiotics.

Md. Officials Visit Sites

Representatives of three state departments have visited the sites of the two proposed new boys' forestry camps in Garrett County to select the exact locations for the buildings.

District Forester William H. Johnson led the delegation to the site four miles west of Lonaconing and to the other location on Meadow Mountain. Both sites formerly were the location of Civilian Conservation Corps camps in depression days.

The district forester said that only the sewage disposal plants at the two locations seemed usable. The water in the wells will be tested to determine whether it can pass the necessary inspection.

Visiting the camp sites last Friday were Raymond L. Manella, chief, Division of Training Schools, State Department of Public Welfare; David L. Curran, field supervisor for the same department; Col. Lawrence P. Sangston, principal architect, State Department of Public Improvements, and State Forester H. C. Buckingham. Ralph D. Swauger, who has been appointed director of the camp to be built near Lonaconing, also was in the group.

Transcript Filed In Accident Case

The transcript of record from the State Industrial Accident Commission of the case in which Harry T. Neff, 31 Virginia Avenue, was the claimant, was filed Tuesday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Neff sought compensation from Moyer Brothers, Altoona, Pa., the employer, and Employers Mutual Casualty Company, insurer, on grounds that he injured his left hand and wrist June 24, 1955, when he fell while pouring concrete.

Commissioner R. Duncan Clark ruled last August 2 that Neff was temporarily totally disabled only from July 2 through July 5$, 1955, and was entitled to compensation for that period at the rate of $35 a week. Neff's attorney, Edward J. Ryan, appealed. The employer and insurer were represented by W. Earle Cobey.

Whirlybirds And The Williamsburg

President Eisenhower's two new helicopters make practice flights this week from the White House to the National Airport in neighboring Virginia. These are the planes first mentioned in news dispatches of March 3, which speculated that they would be used on flights between the White House and the golf course. A day later, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty disclosed Air Force plans to buy two Bell Ranger helicopters for the President's use. Hagerty said the planes would take the President from the White House to the Military Air Transport Service airport to avoid ground traffic tieups. The distance is four miles. Hagerty, and later, the President himself, denied reports that the helicopters would be used to ferry the President to Burning Tree Country Club in nearby Maryland.

Hagerty on May 2 raised his initial estimate of the cost of the President's helicopters. The Air Force had told him, he said, that the two planes would cost $120,000. "Now," he said, referring to Air Force testimony before a House subcommittee, "it's $201,000. I suppose the difference is for spare parts." Hagerty again denied that the planes would be used for travel to Burning Tree, or, for that matter, to the President's farm in Gettysburg, Pa. At the same time, it came out that the President is having his mothballed yacht, the Williamsburg, moved from Washington to New London, Conn., to reduce maintenance expenses. The outlay for the helicopters and for their maintenance, even should they be used only for the President's recreation, could hardly be called exorbitant in the light of maintenance costs for the Williamsburg. Eisenhower, no yachtsman, had the Williamsburg taken out of service in his first year in office, calling it a "needless luxury." The Williamsburg in service required a crew of 150 men. The White House put annual maintenance costs for the yacht at $600,000. After the yacht was mothballed in 1953, maintenance costs came down to about $12,000 a year.

These Days

Press Agents

The telephone rang and I was put on to someone who described himself as from the press department of Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., which is publishing Alger Hiss' book. The voice was gentle, neither a tenor nor a bass and the attitude was not malevolent, although possibly insecure.

At any rate, this press agent said that he had heard that I had written a column on the Hiss book, thus breaking the release date. I naturally told him to buy a newspaper, read the column, digest its contents if he knows how and then to telephone me again. Why he or anyone should believe it possible to discuss a subject without taking the trouble to get at the facts, is beyond me.

Curiously enough, I had not broken the publisher's release date, although had I wanted to, I should have done so without the slightest qualm. If I have a deep urge to write about a book, I can buy it and often do. If a publisher sends a book free of charge, he generally wants, in return, some free advertising. Half the books I see reviewed are not worth the white paper they cover, and some of the most valuable books are never reviewed at all.

But what the publisher wants is free advertising because he is in the book publishing business to make some money just as a fish store sells shrimps to make some money. Few publishers will put their money behind a noble work of art with the expectancy of losing by it—unless he is one who needs an income tax loss to put him in a lower bracket which can be a profit by the twisted accountancy methods that have turned us into a nation of tax-dodgers.

So, this press agent got nowhere in his discussion on the telephone and one reason is that the press agents are getting too hoity-toity and they need their knuckles rapped now and then. If the newspapers and magazines stopped printing their mimeographed releases, most of them would have to go out of business, and there is no reason why anyone should print their mimeographed stuff, particularly when it is provided by the taxpayers' money, when the press agent works for the government or some department thereof. In this particular case, it would not have mattered whether I had broken the sacred release date, as the book was already on sale in three Washington bookstores, as I learned by telephone. The publisher therefore was guilty of breaking his own release date.

Another press agent gag is to invite newspapermen to press luncheons and press cocktail parties. I almost never go to these shindigs, having a prejudice against being purchased by a lamb chop or a piece of fried chicken which I am not permitted to eat, anyhow. I went to one of these things once and had to listen to a guy tell us something about Korea which I knew, by 20 years, at least, of personal experience, to be unadulterated nonsense.

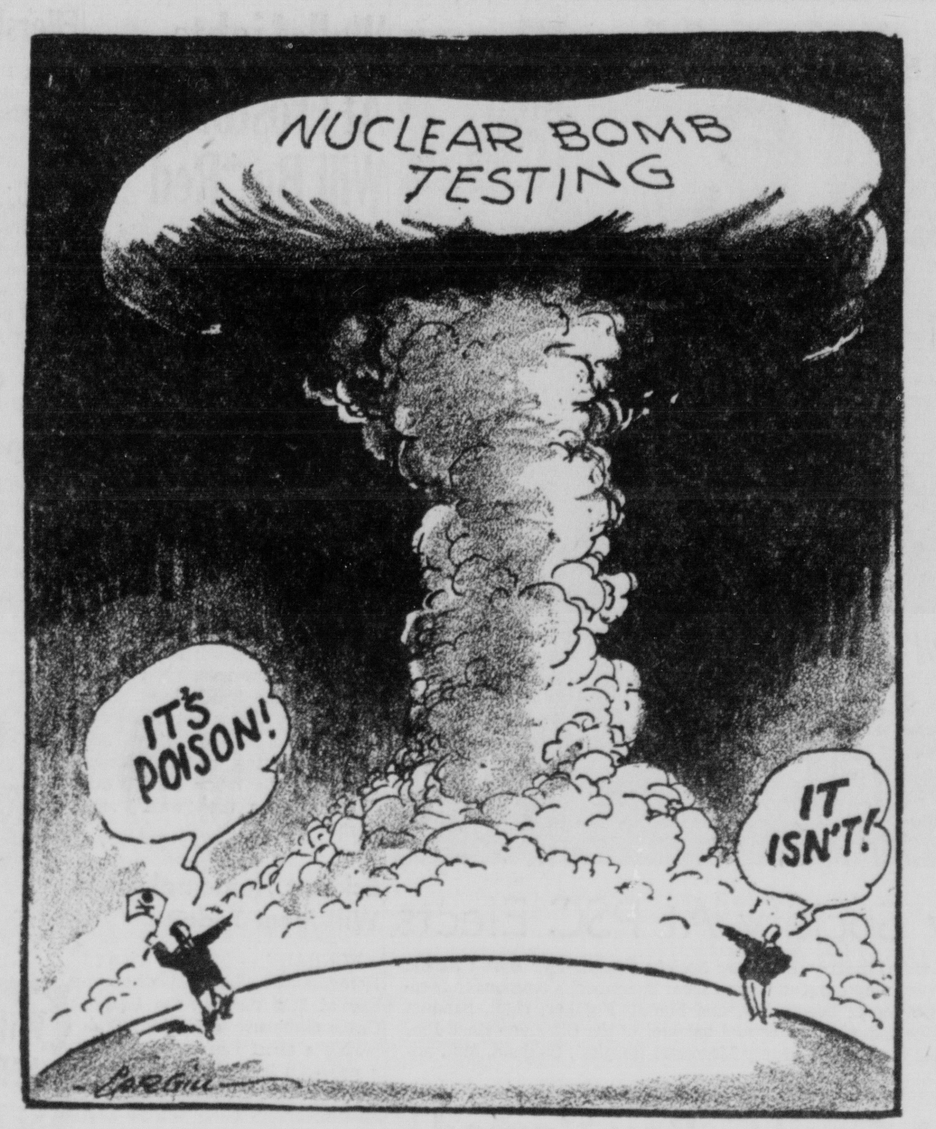

I think I could be a free loader at such a lunch every day if there were the inclination to eat at a press agent's expense and then give free advertising for whatever he happens at the moment to represent. Often that form of free advertising is justified by the news value of the story; but if a story has that much news value, a release date is a presumptuous assertion of censorship which ought to be ignored. Not only does this duffer demand free advertising but he places a limitation upon when it is to be used. His claim is that he wants to give everyone an even break, except the public which pays for the services of both the newspaperman and the press agent.

The press agent who called me about Alger Hiss' book lacked the one qualification which gives a press agent a job, namely that he speaks and acts in a manner to encourage the use of his material. When he approaches the subject of his brainwashing in the tone of a tax collector objecting to an item in an expense account, he defeats his purpose and wastes the money of those who hire him.

In this particular instance, it did not matter. I had already read Hiss' book, had already written about it and had already decided that Alger Hiss had added nothing new to an already tiresome discussion.

Mushroom Or Toadstool?

Nasser Faces A Critical Moment Of Choice

By Joseph Alsop

BEIRUT.

Egypt's President Nasser, who is still for good or ill the biggest figure in the Arab world, is plainly approaching his final choice between East and West.

He will either strengthen his anchor to windward—the bearable relations with America he has always been careful to maintain. Or he will cast off the anchor altogether, rapidly steering Egypt straight towards a new status as an open Soviet client-state. The moment of choice between these alternatives has been greatly hastened by the defeat of the Egyptian plot to take over Little Jordan, and perhaps too by the Syrian elections.

Some hope for, some fear this moment. King Saud of Saudi Arabia, for instance, is one of those who fear it. He now knows the true, undying loyalty of his old friend, the Egyptian dictator. He has just discovered Nasser's military attache in Arabia organizing terrorist activities against the Arabian government.

But the great flood of oil money has washed away the old Arabian tribal loyalties. It has changed the whole structure of Arabian society. It has made King Saud much more vulnerable than most people suppose to the kind of propaganda and underground attack Nasser knows so well how to organize. Hence King Saud is not at all anxious to hear his own name heading the list of villains of Nasser's powerful "Voice of the Arabs."

For these reasons, King Saud has just sent young King Hussein of Jordan home again from Arabia with what amounts to half a flea in his ear. In particular, Saud refused Hussein's urgent invitation to join an active combination against the left-wing nationalist, pro-Egyptian groups which are now working with the Communists in all the Arab countries.

But King Saud is still supporting King Hussein. He is still America's friend. He has not altered his crucial decision, reached last October, to withdraw his rich financial support from the Egyptian network of subsidized agents, terrorists and "nationalist" Arab politicians. Hence King Saud will hardly escape if Nasser finally decides to go all the way with the Kremlin.

There are those who argue that Nasser has chosen the Kremlin already but just has not bothered to tell the American Ambassador in Cairo about it. Some signs, such as the renewed publication of a Cairo paper by the allegedly suppressed Egyptian Communist Party, certainly hint that Nasser is no longer a free agent. Most serious of all, he is now accepting Soviet rubles instead of Saudi dollars to finance his agent and propaganda net in the Arab world.

Yet there are still several important things to be said about Nasser's choice. In the first place, Nasser has a legitimate complaint against the American policy makers in this matter.

American policy has never firmly supported or firmly opposed the Western allies in the Middle East. American dealings with Egypt have alternated appeasement and humiliation with dizzying frivolity. In the short space of five months, we have gone from Secretary Dulles' exhibition of brinksmanship in the rejection of the Aswan Dam scheme, all the way to President Eisenhower's trust in Divine Providence and the U.N. in the climactic stage of the Suez crisis.

Until the Jordanian drama, therefore, Nasser was never plainly notified that the United States, as leader of the West, would not indefinitely stand for his making political capital by the simple method of kicking the West in the belly. On the contrary, Nasser has been allowed to suppose, and he has supposed, that the United States would stand for almost anything if he only refrained from kicking the Arabian-American Oil Company in the belly.

If this confusion had been early removed from Nasser's mind, he might not have edged so far towards a Soviet choice. To be sure, Nasser gains cheap personal prestige by sponsoring and leading Communist-linked, violently anti-Western movements in other Arab countries. But the suffering masses of Egypt do not gain a piastre.

The position is clearer than ever now, since the Suez crisis has placed so many inflamed issues on the dust heap of accomplished facts. All Egypt's practical national interests are on the side of a truly neutral policy, which would include friendship with the West and eventually help from the West. The only obstacle is Nasser's activity beyond his own borders.

The last stage of the Suez crisis was of course the golden opportunity for the American policy makers. But even now it just might not be too late to persuade Nasser to make the wiser choice.

Commuters on the New York, New Haven and By-Products, must wonder how many times they shared seats with the Mad Bomber.

If he carried that loaded pipe in his hip pocket it gave me a tie game. I got off two stations before him. But he got on two stations before me.

If he packed it in a brief case then Yucca Flats must be Heaven because the wax dummies came from there. You never know who's your cushion neighbors on the New York, New Haven and Spanish Inquisition.

The psychiatrists at the preliminary quizzation figured to prove the suburban Guy Fawkes was as dizzy as the chicken that hatched in the egg beater.

But there was a Solomon banked in judgment who brushed that technical stuff away like losing poker chips. And he didn't split babies to fit hamburger rolls.

After inhaling the scientific malarkey for six hours the judge leaned over and asked, "You say he doesn't know the difference between right and wrong. Does he know the difference between a bomb and an apple?"

That stopped 'em colder than the shady side of an igloo. I know the answer to that one.

The apple is the one that peels the easiest. But don't try to make apple sauce.

Prescription For Reducing Highway Death Toll

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The strategy of our war against auto accidents is aimed at changing our highways, cars, and drivers. The autos are the easiest to alter because their life span is 10 years in contrast to roads, which usually last 25 years. The average individual has a driving span of 40 years.

To date, physicians and safety experts have made little progress with our auto manufacturers. It will take popular opinion or legislation to force the incorporation of safety devices. The same applies to the elimination of booby traps on the exterior of the car; they are more decorative than useful.

Many pedestrians have been injured or killed, for example, when the arm was caught in the old type of door handle. Safety experts collected data and presented them to the proper authorities but little was accomplished. In time, these handles were remodeled and the present design is no longer a hazard. But the change was not done in the name of safety.

Cars were made wider and the owners complained because they bumped or scraped off the handles while getting in and out of the garage. The front of the present auto is ornamental but visit your local hospital and see how detrimental to the human body are the projections on the hood and bumpers.

Our new interstate highway systems are illustrations of road improvements. The majority are four-lanes with no opposing traffic, no railroad crossings, or local inlets for rural traffic. But these advances have not been as effective as anticipated. While they reduce accidents by 50 per cent, many drivers cancel out the extra safety factors by taking more risks.

The number of one-car mishaps has increased. They are due to tire blowouts and lack of attention on the part of the driver; or the road is too straight and boring, which leads to highway hypnosis—a dangerous condition at 70 m.p.h.

The process of changing the driver is starting at the high school level. The National Safety council believes the accident rate could be decreased 95 per cent if all drivers were as good as the best driver. Our teen-agers are the drivers of the future and, with proper education, the majority become good drivers.

This program needs more financial support and should be expanded. It will go a long way toward cutting down on the 40,000 death toll and 1,250,000 serious injuries.

MEAT IN HYPERTENSION

C. V. writes: Can a person with high blood pressure eat red meat?

REPLY

Yes. At one time, beef, pork, and lamb were restricted to spare the kidneys. But we now know that the body needs these first class proteins. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on high blood pressure.

MINOR STROKE

H. D. writes: What is a little stroke?

REPLY

A tiny brain hemorrhage that is not extensive enough to produce paralysis. The effect may vary from slight dizziness to minor changes in personality and judgment, depending upon the number of hemorrhages that occur.

CORTISONE THERAPY

J. E. writes: If a person is given cortisone for arthritis and no relief follows, how long should the medicine be used before giving it up?

REPLY

In my opinion, two weeks is long enough.

CHANGE TO CANCER

Mrs. G. writes: Could a birthmark become cancerous?

REPLY

Yes, but this complication is rare considering the huge number of persons who have moles or birthmarks.

NO SHRINKER

C. F. writes: Is there any wonder drug to shrink diverticula?

REPLY

No, not even alum. If the diverticula are inflamed, an antibiotic or a sulfonamide will help.

TOMORROW: Chest X-rays for all.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Saxe Commins, aboard a train from Princeton to Penn Station, shared a seat with a reader who tore off the bottom half of every page he finished in his book and threw it on the floor. Unable to contain his curiosity, Commins finally asked, "Why are you doing that?" The man explained gravely, "It's my way of keeping out the wild elephants."

"But there are no wild elephants on this train," protested Commins.

"See?" said the man triumphantly. "It's working already."

Emily Kimbrough was about to deliver a lecture when a workman appeared on the stage, waving a screwdriver and beckoning the chairlady. After a hasty conference, she brushed past Miss Kimbrough and told the standing-room-only audience, "I'm sorry to say there will be a slight delay. Word has just been given me that there is a screw loose in our speaker."

The Budget: Lobbyist Told Off; Ike Fights Disloyalty; Nixon In Middle

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A businessman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce variety got a taste of his own budget medicine from Congressman Wayne Hays of of Ohio the other day.

William J. Hull of Cincinnati, representative of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, called on the Ohio Democrat on behalf of Ohio industrialists and chambers of commerce to urge more money than the budget allows for the Pike Island Dam. He wanted to triple the money in the budget for study of the dam in order to get the dam started sooner.

"You're the people who are writing me letters about economy," replied Congressman Hays after listening carefully. "You're the people who want to cut out sewage disposal. You want to cut out all funds for cancer research and for the cure of heart disease. Yet now you come along when something is going to benefit you and your companies and you want the budget increased.

"I'm tired of people who want economy for others but more money for themselves," continued Hays. "I've got stacks of mail on my desk from your people urging economy. And I'll vote for it where I can. But I'm not going to cut everyone else and raise you."

The Pike Dam would replace three dams on the Ohio River with one dam, thereby saving navigation time to those using the river, among their Weirton steel. Congressman Hays said he favored the dam, but did not favor spending extra money to speed it up.

Battle Of The Bulge

The battle of the budget is shaping up as a bigger problem for President Eisenhower than the Battle of the Bulge was for General Eisenhower.

In the Battle of the Bulge, crack Nazi SS troops infiltrated the Ardennes forest during the closing days of 1944 and routed Ike's 106th Division. But General Eisenhower, though taken by surprise, did not have to cope with disloyalty from his own troops.

In the battle of the budget, President Eisenhower's chief problem is disloyalty from within his own ranks.

He has trouble not only with his own top Cabinet officer, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, but rank-and-file Republicans supposed to fight for him.

It's supposed to be a strict secret, but the Republican Congressional Committee has actually hired a research director, Harkey Reiter, to fight against the Eisenhower budget. His job is to dig out facts and figures aimed at undercutting the budget submitted by the head of the Republican Party. Yet he is paid by one segment of the Republican Party, by Republican money raised by Republicans to keep Republicans in office.

It is unprecedented for this money to be used against a Republican President.

In addition, right-wing Republican Congressmen have set up a super-secret task force to battle against their own President.

Heading the secret task force is Congressman John Ray of New York, former vice president and general counsel of American Telephone and Telegraph. Working with Ray are Congressmen Bob Wilson of California, John Byrnes of Wisconsin, Gerald Ford of Michigan, John Rhodes of Arizona and Melvin Laird of Wisconsin.

Wilson was active in Vice President Nixon's previous campaigns, Rhodes is a water-boy for Arizona's Barry Goldwater, probably the most outspoken anti-Eisenhower Republican in the Senate.

Curiously, Laird formerly worked for Wisconsin's Gov. Walter Koehler, supposed to be a strong Eisenhower Republican and a former critic of the late Senator McCarthy.

The existence of this group has been carefully concealed, not only from the press, but from "modern Republicans." Anyone who pries to closely is told that the group's official function is to prepare an expose of the nation's "fiscal policies for the past 20 years." This research will blast past Democratic budgets, of course, but it is really aimed at the Eisenhower budget and is part of the conservative bid to capture party control from Ike's modern Republicans.

Unhappy Dick Nixon

The man caught in the middle is Vice President Nixon, who is obligated to defend the Eisenhower budget and also hopes to be the liberal Republican candidate for the presidency in 1960. Nixon, however, doesn't want to antagonize the powerful Chamber of Commerce crowd. As a result, he has been doing political contortions, trying to keep on both sides of the budget fence.

Though he's reported to have given secret encouragement to the conservatives, in all his public pronouncements he has weakly defended the Eisenhower budget.

One of the most significant aspects of the budget battle is the way business and regular Republicans have been working together. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce scheduled its annual meeting in Washington at a time when its members could swarm over Capital Hill buttonholing Congressmen to cut the budget. They did an effective job.

When General Eisenhower fought the Battle of the Bulge he was able to throw in troops from the continent of Europe, even rush extra divisions from the U.S.A. But in the battle of the budget so far he has been able to use only his own White House staff, plus his own voice. With a few exceptions, Republican Congressmen aren't battling for him. They are afraid first, he might change his mind regarding the budget and leave them out on a limb. Second, cutting the budget is too popular at home. Third, Ike has not gone to bat for those, like Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, who have gone to bat for him.

Muddy Handout

New Hampshire's amiable Sen. Styles Bridges just returned from Texas where he went to sympathize with friends whose farms were dried up by the worst drought in Texas history. By the time he arrived there, however, a heavy downpour had hit Texas.

Telling the story, Bridges reported: "It was raining cats and dogs. The whole state was turning into a sea of mud. The farmers were having great trouble wading through the mud to cash their drought checks."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Note it said that so-called "Irish coffee" was originated at the Shannon Airport, Ireland. That's nonsense. It was originated in Dublin by James Joyce, the eminent writer, long before the Shannon Airport was built. Joyce called it "Dublin Coffee" and here is his recipe for it: "Two jiggers Irish whisky in a balloon wine glass. One teaspoon sugar. Pour in black coffee. Stir. As contents revolve, add jigger cream slowly in circular motion. Allow cream to float on top of coffee. Do not stir again."

HUSBANDS

High on the list of forgotten men are the first husbands of many celebrities. Can you give offhand the name of Marilyn Monroe's first husband? How about "Ginger" Rogers first matrimonial mate? Who was Joan Crawford's first husband? During World War II I received a letter from a United States Army Sergeant, which said in part, "Give my ex-wife a plug. She is a star with the Metropolitan Opera." She really was. And still is. I often wonder what became of the sergeant. It seems successful women shed their first husbands much more than successful men do their first wives.

SIDELIGHTS

How long should a sermon be? According to a recent poll of regular churchgoers, the limit for a sermon should be 15 minutes. Call this to the attention of your minister . . . Another much overworked expression that should be given a long vacation or be permanently retired is "You are SO right."

BIG WINNER

Ever hear of a man winning over a million and a half dollars on one horse race? It happened. The winner of the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase in 1931 was a horse named Grakle. The ticket on Grakle, calling for first prize in the Calcutta Sweepstakes was held by Emilo Scala, a London waiter. The amount paid Scala for that prize winning ticket was $1,723,083. And there was no income tax to pay on it!

ASIDES

Are the seventh sons of seventh sons unusually lucky as is often alleged? Perry Como, the capable and conscientious crooner from Canonsburg, Pa., is a seventh son of a seventh son. He seems to be doing all right . . . A home management expert says the average wife with a family of four to care for washes about 13,000 dishes a year. If you have a dishwashing machine in your home call this item to your wife's attention so she will realize what a lucky girl she is.

MODELS

The best fashion models are of British origin. In addition to having the required measurements, the British girls have that touch of class in their appearance that makes them outstandingly effective in popularizing expensive attire. The world's most magnificent high fashion model is a British beauty named Dexter Vaughn. Or, so says Monsieur Christian Dior. He should know.

AMONG THE MARRIED

The 10th wedding anniversary is the tin wedding. What are the fifth, fifteenth, twentieth and thirtieth wedding anniversaries? If you can't answer that offhand, blush for your ignorance and then rush to the nearest book of etiquette. I know some people whose tin wedding anniversary is coming up shortly. What is a good present for a tin wedding? I can't thing of anything.

SWITCH

Have switched razor blades. My favorite of many years is not what it used to be as a shaving implement. The name is the same but the company has been taken over by a new group. Their policy appears to be to put out a blade that becomes useless for shaving after one shave. They seem dominated by the thought of quick profits. Or, as we say in Brooklyn, they are out to make a fast buck. Too many of these new groups that take over long established outfits with famous brand names do not do right by the old customers.

Whirlybirds And The Williamsburg

President Eisenhower's two new helicopters make practice flights this week from the White House to the National Airport in neighboring Virginia. These are the planes first mentioned in news dispatches of March 3, which speculated that they would be used on flights between the White House and the golf course. A day later, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty disclosed Air Force plans to buy two Bell Ranger helicopters for the President's use. Hagerty said the planes would take the President from the White House to the Military Air Transport Service airport to avoid ground traffic tieups. The distance is four miles. Hagerty, and later, the President himself, denied reports that the helicopters would be used to ferry the President to Burning Tree Country Club in nearby Maryland.

Hagerty on May 2 raised his initial estimate of the cost of the President's helicopters. The Air Force had told him, he said, that the two planes would cost $120,000. "Now," he said, referring to Air Force testimony before a House subcommittee, "it's $201,000. I suppose the difference is for spare parts." Hagerty again denied that the planes would be used for travel to Burning Tree, or, for that matter, to the President's farm in Gettysburg, Pa. At the same time, it came out that the President is having his mothballed yacht, the Williamsburg, moved from Washington to New London, Conn., to reduce maintenance expenses. The outlay for the helicopters and for their maintenance, even should they be used only for the President's recreation, could hardly be called exorbitant in the light of maintenance costs for the Williamsburg. Eisenhower, no yachtsman, had the Williamsburg taken out of service in his first year in office, calling it a "needless luxury." The Williamsburg in service required a crew of 150 men. The White House put annual maintenance costs for the yacht at $600,000. After the yacht was mothballed in 1953, maintenance costs came down to about $12,000 a year.

Press Agents

The telephone rang and I was put on to someone who described himself as from the press department of Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., which is publishing Alger Hiss' book. The voice was gentle, neither a tenor nor a bass and the attitude was not malevolent, although possibly insecure.

At any rate, this press agent said that he had heard that I had written a column on the Hiss book, thus breaking the release date. I naturally told him to buy a newspaper, read the column, digest its contents if he knows how and then to telephone me again. If he carried that loaded pipe in his hip pocket it gave me a tie game. I got off two stations before him. But he got on two stations before me.

If he packed it in a brief case then Yucca Flats must be Heaven because the wax dummies came from there. You never know who's your cushion neighbors on the New York, New Haven and Spanish Inquisition.

The psychiatrists at the preliminary quizzation figured to prove the suburban Guy Fawkes was as dizzy as the chicken that hatched in the egg beater.

But there was a Solomon banked in judgment who brushed that technical stuff away like losing poker chips. And he didn't split babies to fit hamburger rolls.

After inhaling the scientific malarkey for six hours the judge leaned over and asked, "You say he doesn't know the difference between right and wrong. Does he know the difference between a bomb and an apple?"

That stopped 'em colder than the shady side of an igloo. I know the answer to that one.

The apple is the one that peels the easiest. But don't try to make apple sauce.

Prescription For Reducing Highway Death Toll

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The strategy of our war against auto accidents is aimed at changing our highways, cars, and drivers. The autos are the easiest to alter because their life span is 10 years in contrast to roads, which usually last 25 years. The average individual has a driving span of 40 years.

To date, physicians and safety experts have made little progress with our auto manufacturers. It will take popular opinion or legislation to force the incorporation of safety devices. The same applies to the elimination of booby traps on the exterior of the car; they are more decorative than useful.

Many pedestrians have been injured or killed, for example, when the arm was caught in the old type of door handle. Safety experts collected data and presented them to the proper authorities but little was accomplished. In time, these handles were remodeled and the present design is no longer a hazard. But the change was not done in the name of safety.

Cars were made wider and the owners complained because they bumped or scraped off the handles while getting in and out of the garage. The front of the present auto is ornamental but visit your local hospital and see how detrimental to the human body are the projections on the hood and bumpers.

Our new interstate highway systems are illustrations of road improvements. The majority are four-lanes with no opposing traffic, no railroad crossings, or local inlets for rural traffic. But these advances have not been as effective as anticipated. While they reduce accidents by 50 per cent, many drivers cancel out the extra safety factors by taking more risks.

The number of one-car mishaps has increased. They are due to tire blowouts and lack of attention on the part of the driver; or the road is too straight and boring, which leads to highway hypnosis—a dangerous condition at 70 m.p.h.

The process of changing the driver is starting at the high school level. The National Safety council believes the accident rate could be decreased 95 per cent if all drivers were as good as the best driver. Our teen-agers are the drivers of the future and, with proper education, the majority become good drivers.

This program needs more financial support and should be expanded. It will go a long way toward cutting down on the 40,000 death toll and 1,250,000 serious injuries.

MEAT IN HYPERTENSION

C. V. writes: Can a person with high blood pressure eat red meat?

REPLY

Yes. At one time, beef, pork, and lamb were restricted to spare the kidneys. But we now know that the body needs these first class proteins. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on high blood pressure.

MINOR STROKE

H. D. writes: What is a little stroke?

REPLY

A tiny brain hemorrhage that is not extensive enough to produce paralysis. The effect may vary from slight dizziness to minor changes in personality and judgment, depending upon the number of hemorrhages that occur.

CORTISONE THERAPY

J. E. writes: If a person is given cortisone for arthritis and no relief follows, how long should the medicine be used before giving it up?

REPLY

In my opinion, two weeks is long enough.

CHANGE TO CANCER

Mrs. G. writes: Could a birthmark become cancerous?

REPLY

Yes, but this complication is rare considering the huge number of persons who have moles or birthmarks.

NO SHRINKER

C. F. writes: Is there any wonder drug to shrink diverticula?

REPLY

No, not even alum. If the diverticula are inflamed, an antibiotic or a sulfonamide will help.

TOMORROW: Chest X-rays for all.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Saxe Commins, aboard a train from Princeton to Penn Station, shared a seat with a reader who tore off the bottom half of every page he finished in his book and threw it on the floor. Unable to contain his curiosity, Commins finally asked, "Why are you doing that?" The man explained gravely, "It's my way of keeping out the wild elephants."

"But there are no wild elephants on this train," protested Commins.

"See?" said the man triumphantly. "It's working already."

Emily Kimbrough was about to deliver a lecture when a workman appeared on the stage, waving a screwdriver and beckoning the chairlady. After a hasty conference, she brushed past Miss Kimbrough and told the standing-room-only audience, "I'm sorry to say there will be a slight delay. Word has just been given me that there is a screw loose in our speaker."

The Budget: Lobbyist Told Off; Ike Fights Disloyalty; Nixon In Middle

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A businessman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce variety got a taste of his own budget medicine from Congressman Wayne Hays of of Ohio the other day.

William J. Hull of Cincinnati, representative of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, called on the Ohio Democrat on behalf of Ohio industrialists and chambers of commerce to urge more money than the budget allows for the Pike Island Dam. He wanted to triple the money in the budget for study of the dam in order to get the dam started sooner.

"You're the people who are writing me letters about economy," replied Congressman Hays after listening carefully. "You're the people who want to cut out sewage disposal. You want to cut out all funds for cancer research and for the cure of heart disease. Yet now you come along when something is going to benefit you and your companies and you want the budget increased.

"I'm tired of people who want economy for others but more money for themselves," continued Hays. "I've got stacks of mail on my desk from your people urging economy. And I'll vote for it where I can. But I'm not going to cut everyone else and raise you."

The Pike Dam would replace three dams on the Ohio River with one dam, thereby saving navigation time to those using the river, among their Weirton steel. Congressman Hays said he favored the dam, but did not favor spending extra money to speed it up.

Battle Of The Bulge

The battle of the budget is shaping up as a bigger problem for President Eisenhower than the Battle of the Bulge was for General Eisenhower.

In the Battle of the Bulge, crack Nazi SS troops infiltrated the Ardennes forest during the closing days of 1944 and routed Ike's 106th Division. But General Eisenhower, though taken by surprise, did not have to cope with disloyalty from his own troops.

In the battle of the budget, President Eisenhower's chief problem is disloyalty from within his own ranks.

He has trouble not only with his own top Cabinet officer, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, but rank-and-file Republicans supposed to fight for him.

It's supposed to be a strict secret, but the Republican Congressional Committee has actually hired a research director, Harkey Reiter, to fight against the Eisenhower budget. His job is to dig out facts and figures aimed at undercutting the budget submitted by the head of the Republican Party. Yet he is paid by one segment of the Republican Party, by Republican money raised by Republicans to keep Republicans in office.

It is unprecedented for this money to be used against a Republican President.

In addition, right-wing Republican Congressmen have set up a super-secret task force to battle against their own President.

Heading the secret task force is Congressman John Ray of New York, former vice president and general counsel of American Telephone and Telegraph. Working with Ray are Congressmen Bob Wilson of California, John Byrnes of Wisconsin, Gerald Ford of Michigan, John Rhodes of Arizona and Melvin Laird of Wisconsin.

Wilson was active in Vice President Nixon's previous campaigns, Rhodes is a water-boy for Arizona's Barry Goldwater, probably the most outspoken anti-Eisenhower Republican in the Senate.

Curiously, Laird formerly worked for Wisconsin's Gov. Walter Koehler, supposed to be a strong Eisenhower Republican and a former critic of the late Senator McCarthy.

The existence of this group has been carefully concealed, not only from the press, but from "modern Republicans." Anyone who pries to closely is told that the group's official function is to prepare an expose of the nation's "fiscal policies for the past 20 years." This research will blast past Democratic budgets, of course, but it is really aimed at the Eisenhower budget and is part of the conservative bid to capture party control from Ike's modern Republicans.

Unhappy Dick Nixon

The man caught in the middle is Vice President Nixon, who is obligated to defend the Eisenhower budget and also hopes to be the liberal Republican candidate for the presidency in 1960. Nixon, however, doesn't want to antagonize the powerful Chamber of Commerce crowd. As a result, he has been doing political contortions, trying to keep on both sides of the budget fence.

Though he's reported to have given secret encouragement to the conservatives, in all his public pronouncements he has weakly defended the Eisenhower budget.

One of the most significant aspects of the budget battle is the way business and regular Republicans have been working together. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce scheduled its annual meeting in Washington at a time when its members could swarm over Capital Hill buttonholing Congressmen to cut the budget. They did an effective job.

When General Eisenhower fought the Battle of the Bulge he was able to throw in troops from the continent of Europe, even rush extra divisions from the U.S.A. But in the battle of the budget so far he has been able to use only his own White House staff, plus his own voice. With a few exceptions, Republican Congressmen aren't battling for him. They are afraid first, he might change his mind regarding the budget and leave them out on a limb. Second, cutting the budget is too popular at home. Third, Ike has not gone to bat for those, like Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, who have gone to bat for him.

Muddy Handout

New Hampshire's amiable Sen. Styles Bridges just returned from Texas where he went to sympathize with friends whose farms were dried up by the worst drought in Texas history. By the time he arrived there, however, a heavy downpour had hit Texas.

Telling the story, Bridges reported: "It was raining cats and dogs. The whole state was turning into a sea of mud. The farmers were having great trouble wading through the mud to cash their drought checks."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Note it said that so-called "Irish coffee" was originated at the Shannon Airport, Ireland. That's nonsense. It was originated in Dublin by James Joyce, the eminent writer, long before the Shannon Airport was built. Joyce called it "Dublin Coffee" and here is his recipe for it: "Two jiggers Irish whisky in a balloon wine glass. One teaspoon sugar. Pour in black coffee. Stir. As contents revolve, add jigger cream slowly in circular motion. Allow cream to float on top of coffee. Do not stir again."

HUSBANDS

High on the list of forgotten men are the first husbands of many celebrities. Can you give offhand the name of Marilyn Monroe's first husband? How about "Ginger" Rogers first matrimonial mate? Who was Joan Crawford's first husband? During World War II I received a letter from a United States Army Sergeant, which said in part, "Give my ex-wife a plug. She is a star with the Metropolitan Opera." She really was. And still is. I often wonder what became of the sergeant. It seems successful women shed their first husbands much more than successful men do their first wives.

SIDELIGHTS

How long should a sermon be? According to a recent poll of regular churchgoers, the limit for a sermon should be 15 minutes. Call this to the attention of your minister . . . Another much overworked expression that should be given a long vacation or be permanently retired is "You are SO right."

BIG WINNER

Ever hear of a man winning over a million and a half dollars on one horse race? It happened. The winner of the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase in 1931 was a horse named Grakle. The ticket on Grakle, calling for first prize in the Calcutta Sweepstakes was held by Emilo Scala, a London waiter. The amount paid Scala for that prize winning ticket was $1,723,083. And there was no income tax to pay on it!

ASIDES

Are the seventh sons of seventh sons unusually lucky as is often alleged? Perry Como, the capable and conscientious crooner from Canonsburg, Pa., is a seventh son of a seventh son. He seems to be doing all right . . . A home management expert says the average wife with a family of four to care for washes about 13,000 dishes a year. If you have a dishwashing machine in your home call this item to your wife's attention so she will realize what a lucky girl she is.

MODELS

The best fashion models are of British origin. In addition to having the required measurements, the British girls have that touch of class in their appearance that makes them outstandingly effective in popularizing expensive attire. The world's most magnificent high fashion model is a British beauty named Dexter Vaughn. Or, so says Monsieur Christian Dior. He should know.

AMONG THE MARRIED

The 10th wedding anniversary is the tin wedding. What are the fifth, fifteenth, twentieth and thirtieth wedding anniversaries? If you can't answer that offhand, blush for your ignorance and then rush to the nearest book of etiquette. I know some people whose tin wedding anniversary is coming up shortly. What is a good present for a tin wedding? I can't thing of anything.

SWITCH

Have switched razor blades. My favorite of many years is not what it used to be as a shaving implement. The name is the same but the company has been taken over by a new group. Their policy appears to be to put out a blade that becomes useless for shaving after one shave. They seem dominated by the thought of quick profits. Or, as we say in Brooklyn, they are out to make a fast buck. Too many of these new groups that take over long established outfits with famous brand names do not do right by the old customers.

Walk Lights At Frostburg Will Be "Red"

FROSTBURG — Police Commissioner Franklin Martens has ordered the amber colored lights which have signalled pedestrians that it is safe to cross the streets at the various intersections on Main street, replaced with red lenses.

A number of near misses have occurred, where a pedestrian was crossing the street on the amber light and a motorist, thinking the amber color meant "caution" drove through and narrowly missed hitting him.

With the amber lenses removed, pedestrians will cross on the second "red", which is also controlled with the neon "walk" signal below the traffic light. Martens states that most motorists will respect a red light and come to a stop, and the pedestrians will be much safer when crossing when the "walk" sign flashes on.

Frostburg Firemen Answer Three Calls

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Fire Department responded to three fire calls Wednesday within a few hours. Twice they were called to the city dump, where dry leaves and brush became ignited from a stiff breeze blowing sparks from the burning trash on the dump. The third alarm, at about 3 p.m. sent the fire trucks to Junior Order Park at the end of Broadway, where a bad grass fire was extinguished.

Chief Haberlein asks that persons be very careful when burning dead grass or other refuse. With the dead grass and leaves as dry as they now are, any fire is very likely to get out of control and may cause considerable damage, he said.

Twice they were called to the city dump, where dry leaves and brush became ignited from a stiff breeze blowing sparks from the burning trash on the dump. The third alarm, at about 3 p.m. sent the fire trucks to Junior Order Park at the end of Broadway, where a bad grass fire was extinguished.

Chief Haberlein asks that persons be very careful when burning dead grass or other refuse. With the dead grass and leaves as dry as they now are, any fire is very likely to get out of control and may cause considerable damage, he said.

A directive dated March 21, 1957, has been issued by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to comply with Senate Bill No. 212, passed March 4, 1957, and in effect from passage, concerning the proper identification of motor vehicles that he will require before he will issue a license, beginning January 1, 1958.

The Assessment records must adequately identify each and every vehicle as registered and assessed this (1957) year so that when payment of the taxes is made to the Sheriff after October 1, 1957, the tax payer's receipt should show the Serial Number of the Vehicle.

Therefore YOU MUST BRING or SEND to the Assessor's Office of your County on or before May 15, 1957, the following information:

1. Name of Owner
2. Complete Address of Owner
3. Name of District Where You Are Assessed
4. Make
5. Year

7. Serial Number

We will co-operate with you in trying to get this information on the 1957 books if you will co-operate with us in seeing that we receive it; but YOU MUST BEAR THE BURDEN OF BEING SURE THAT WE GET IT. The reason for our putting it up to you is that our men were more than half through when this became a law and about 90% complete before we knew anything about it.

Phils Trim Milwaukee; Cincinnati Wins 9th Straight

Rookie Beats Braves, 2-1, For Phillies

Don Caldwell Is Victor With 7-Hit Pitching Effort

PHILADELPHIA, May 8 (AP) — Rookie righthander Don Caldwell tamed Milwaukee's band of touted sluggers with a seven-hit performance and a near shutout tonight as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Braves 2-1 at Connie Mack Stadium.

Were it not for a ninth-inning uprising by the Braves, Cardwell would have had the second shutout of his brief major league career. He defeated the New York Giants 5-0 in his first appearance April 26. He was purchased from Miami April 12.

The 22 - year - old comer from Winston-Salem, N.C., was effectively backed up on defense. He gave up four doubles and three singles to Milwaukee, but the Braves could get no closer to paydirt than their one-run ninth.

Valdes Pounds Out Win Over Holman

PORTLAND, Ore., May 8 (AP) — Nino Valdes' authoritative hooks pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Johnny Holman of Chicago in a televised heavyweight bout here tonight.

The Cuban, ninth ranked heavyweight in the world who entered the ring at 209, beat a steady tattoo on Holman's body to pile up his winning points. Holman weighed 204.

There were no knockdowns, but in the eighth round, both fighters went over the ropes in a wild flurry. Holman was the first to go and Valdes, still flailing away, fell atop him.

Referee Ralph Gruman ruled it as no knockdown.

Frostburg State Trackmen Beaten At Buckhannon

W.Va. Wesleyan Wins, 95 To 35

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., May 8 —Coach Sam Ross' West Virginia Wesleyan thinclads remained undefeated here today by turning back the Frostburg State Teachers trackmen, 95-35, in a dual meet.

The Wesleyan squad captured 12 of the 15 events in the track meet, losing only the 220-yard run, the discus throw and the high jump.

Trail was the big winner for Wesleyan, scoring two firsts, a second and running with a winning relay team for the victors.

Coach Ken Babcock said his Frostburg Bobcats who dropped their fourth meet in five outings this spring, were handicapped somewhat by the loss of Bruce May, the mile and two-mile distance runner for the visitors. May also will miss the remaining Frostburg meet at Waynesburg on Saturday because of an infected foot. The summary:

100 Yard Dash—Boe, Wesleyan; Gilpin, Frostburg; Brown, Wesleyan. Time 10.5 seconds.

Potomac State Defeats D&E By 4-1 Count

Richardson Posts Third Pitching Win

KEYSER, W. Va., May 8—Potomac State's Catamounts used only one hit in scoring two runs in the second inning today and that was enough as the Keyser club went on to a 4-1 baseball victory over Davis and Elkins College.

The lone hit, a single by Rudy Telek, four walks and four stolen bases resulted in the two-run inning which gave Austin "Tuffy" Richardson a big enough cushion to post his third pitching victory this season without a loss.

The young southpaw held D&E to six hits and kept the visitors scoreless until the ninth when Jack Haller's double, an infield out and an error produced D&E's only run.

Potomac State chalked up its eighth victory of the campaign and gained revenge for a 10-1 lacing at the hands of the Elkins nine last week.

Held to four hits by Deliere, Potomac State punched over single runs in the fourth and eighth in addition to the pair in the second inning. The big blows in the Catamounts' attack were a pair of two-base hits by Richardson and Ed Helminski. Herndon Wilkins hit a pinch sacrifice fly in the eighth to account for the victors' final tally. Flintstone at Mt. Savage—Ken Grimes and Bob Andrews.

Zihlman at Hyndman, Moose Arnone and Cecil Warnick.

Centerville at Barrelville — George Geatz and Jc Geatz.

Wellersburg at Grantsville — Vic Reynolds and George Schoenadel.

Scores Despite Illness

FREEBORN, Minn. (AP) — Neil Pierce's medical history reads much like that of any polio victim — seven months in a hospital 10 years ago, two operations and an underdeveloped right leg and a noticeable limp.

There, however, the resemblance ends. Neil, a high school sophomore, averaged 20 points a game for the Freeborn High School basketball team.

His athletic ability doesn't stop with basketball. Last fall he was a regular offensive end on the football team which won six games. As a ninth grader, he was the baseball's team regular first baseman.

Bases-Loaded Homer By Hoak Beats Dodgers

Cincinnati Tops Brooklyn, 7 To 6

BROOKLYN, May 8 (AP) — Don Hoak's bases-filled home run off Don Newcombe in the eighth offset a three-run counter-blast by Brooklyn in its half of the inning and gave the Cincinnati Redlegs their ninth consecutive victory tonight, 7-6.

The triumph concluded the Reds' Eastern swing, which resulted in victories in all nine games. Not since 1940 when Cincinnati went on to win the pennant has a team from the Rhineland swept an Eastern trip.

The victory not only boosted the Reds past Brooklyn into second place, by a half game, but it marked the first time pitcher Warren Hacker has been able to defeat the Dodgers since July 19, 1954. The righthander needed help from Herschel Freeman in the eighth to end a personal eight-game losing skein to the Dodgers.

Tribe Belts Yankees, 10-4, Behind Wynn

Wertz, Woodling Maris Hit Homers

CLEVELAND, May 8 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians battered four New York pitchers for 13 hits, including three home runs and their second straight from the Yankees, 10-4 tonight. Three-run homers by Vic Wertz and Gene Woodling and a two-run blast by rookie Roger Maris helped Early Wynn post his third victory.

Mickey Mantle's fourth homer of the season accounted for the first three Yankee runs.

The Yankees jumped to a 3-0 lead in the third on singles by Tony Kubek and Gil McDougald, and Mantle's homer over the centerfield fence.

Starter Art Ditmar went to the showers in the fourth inning after giving up a walk, three singles, and Wertz' three-run homer into the right-field stands, his first of the year.

Tommy Byrne, the losing pitcher, replaced Ditmar and could retire only four of the 12 batters he faced. He gave up five Indians' runs. The veteran lefthander hit Wertz and Chico Carrasquel with pitches, walked two and gave up three hits, two for extra bases. He was replaced in the sixth by Bob Grim after Woodling's homer over the right-field fence.

Memorial Ski Hill

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Howelsen Hill, where skijumper Ansten Samuelstun leaped 316 feet for a new U. S. mark, is named for the late Carl Howelsen of Geilo, Norway.

When he first came to the United States, Howelsen made ski jumps into banks of sawdust in New York's Madison Square Garden in 1907. Then he moved west and eventually settled in this northwestern Colorado mountain town.

He returned to norway in 1922 and died there in 1955 at 79.

Allegany Defeats Beall Nine, 15-3

Allegany High's Campers took over first place in the County Baseball League yesterday by belting Beall High's Mountaineers 15-3, at Frostburg. The triumph gave Gene Shaw's tossers a 6-1 in the high school circuit.

Details on the game were not reported to the Cumberland News by the home team.

California Horse Officials Dislike Shoemaker Ruling

LOS ANGELES, May 8 (INS)—A California racing official and others took sharp issue today with stewards at Churchill Downs over their suspension of jockey Willie Shoemaker for his "error in judgment" ride in the Kentucky Derby last Saturday.

Shoemaker was set down for 15 days for misjudging the finish line aboard Gallant Man, which finished second.

George Holmes, member of the California Horse Racing Board, termed the stewards' action "the most unfair ruling I've heard of in racing." He added:

"The California board will accept the ruling of the Kentucky stewards reluctantly, but we certainly don't agree with them."

Mervyn LeRoy, president of Hollywood Park, where Shoemaker is a popular rider, agreed with Holmes. He said: "It's the worst decision I can recall."

Smith Drives In Six Runs In Cardinal Win

St. Louis Defeats N.Y. Giants, 13-4

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—Catcher Hal Smith drove in six runs with a homer and two singles and the St. Louis Cardinals in general had a happy time at the plate today in clubbing the crippled New York Giants, 13-4.

After trailing 3-0 for three innings, the Cards broke down the Giants' pitching staff with two runs in the fourth, four in the fifth, two in the seventh and four more in the eighth. They fattened their averages with 19 hits.

Smith was the big man in the clutch. His first single sent home two runners in the fourth, his homer in the seventh after Wally Moon's triple counted two more, and he climaxed the eighth with another two-run single.

Moon clouted his fifth homer of the year with two aboard in the fifth. Al Dark stretched his hitting streak to 15 games, and Stan Musial rapped three singles to increase his career total to 2,812 hits. That tied him with George Sisler for 20th place in the all-time hit parade. Moon's homer sent Johnny Antonelli, New York's ace lefty, to the showers.

Calumet Farms Entry Arrives For Preakness

Two Derby Starters Drop From Classic

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Calumet leveled both barrels, Kentucky Derby winner Iron Liege and Gen. Duke, at the May 18 Preakness today and two would-be targets were taken down immediately.

T. M. Kerr's Round Table, third in the derby, and John L. Applebaum's Mister Jive, seventh in the Kentucky classic last Saturday, were declared out of the $100,000-added Preakness at Pimlico.

Horses Are Travel Weary

At about the same time, Iron Liege and Gen. Duke arrived on the scene of the mile and three sixteenths race. They appeared travel weary, but no more so than anybody else would after standing up in a box car for 24 hours.

Gen. Duke continued wearing a special shoe on the sore left foot which kept him out of the derby. However, the feeling around the Calumet stable is that he will be better by a week from Saturday.

The consensus, from stable foreman Al Filocomo to Iron Liege's groom Wendell Griffin, is that Gen. Duke is the stronger 3-year-old prospect of the pair.

The withdrawal of Round Table and Mister Jive left the Preakness nose counters with a maximum of 10 probable starters, and possibly as few as five.

Maintenance of the fever pitch created by the storybook derby rests at the moment with Gallant Man and Bold Ruler. If neither is sent to the Preakness, the bottom might drop out of what last weekend shaped up as the most intriguing of 81 Preakness runnings.

No Decision Yet

The decision on Gallant man won't be forthcoming for at least a few more days. The derby runner-up by a nose in a disputed finish had a rough train ride to New York from Louisville and trainer Johnny Nerud wants to observe his recovery for a while.

Bold Ruler, fourth in the derby as the betting favorite, was on the same train.

The only other starter out of the nine in the derby being counted upon as a Preakness probable is the fifth place Federal Hill.

The other very likely prospects are Inswept, Gough Thompson's winner of the Chesapeake at Laurel, and Nah Hiss, owned by Jules Schwartz who has the contract to sweep up after the races.

The "maybe" list is small with Gama, Gannet and Cohoes mentioned.

Signs For Bout

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP) — Germany's Willie Besmanoff, ninth ranking heavyweight contender, today signed for a television 10-round bout with Archie McBride, Trenton, N. J. veteran, at St. Nicholas Arena May 20.

Knights Of Columbus Join 5-Team City Softball Loop

Old Germans Are Only Holdover Team

The Knights of Columbus have joined the City Softball League, Rec director Gene Mason announced last night, making the circuit a five-team affair this season.

The Caseys' entry will take the place of Johnson's Grocery, last year's champions who have decided to drop from the league.

The pull-out of the Johnson's team leaves the City League with only one holdover team, the Old Germans, who will be back with Brindle Long at the helm as manager.

Other teams in the loop are Old Export, managed by John Reitmeier; the Caseys, piloted by Mickey Clark; the Queen City Hermans, with John Allen at the helm; and the Blue Ribbon Bakery, managed by Don Ritter.

Leaving the league this season were Johnson's, Ritter's Social Club and Hygienic Sanitation.

Johnson's won the title last year by copping the split season playoffs, 2-0, over Hysanco. The Grocers won the second half season with a 12-3 record after Hygienic had copped the first half with a 9-1 mark.

Mason said last night that the five team circuit will conclude with a Shaughnessy playoff for the top four teams this year. Games will be played every Wednesday and Friday and the season is expected to open on May 22.

Phils Trim Milwaukee; Cincinnati Wins 9th Straight

Rookie Beats Braves, 2-1, For Phillies

Don Caldwell Is Victor With 7-Hit Pitching Effort

PHILADELPHIA, May 8 (AP) — Rookie righthander Don Caldwell tamed Milwaukee's band of touted sluggers with a seven-hit performance and a near shutout tonight as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Braves 2-1 at Connie Mack Stadium.

Were it not for a ninth-inning uprising by the Braves, Cardwell would have had the second shutout of his brief major league career. He defeated the New York Giants 5-0 in his first appearance April 26. He was purchased from Miami April 12.

The 22 - year - old comer from Winston-Salem, N.C., was effectively backed up on defense. He gave up four doubles and three singles to Milwaukee, but the Braves could get no closer to paydirt than their one-run ninth.

Valdes Pounds Out Win Over Holman

PORTLAND, Ore., May 8 (AP) — Nino Valdes' authoritative hooks pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Johnny Holman of Chicago in a televised heavyweight bout here tonight.

The Cuban, ninth ranked heavyweight in the world who entered the ring at 209, beat a steady tattoo on Holman's body to pile up his winning points. Holman weighed 204.

There were no knockdowns, but in the eighth round, both fighters went over the ropes in a wild flurry. Holman was the first to go and Valdes, still flailing away, fell atop him.

Referee Ralph Gruman ruled it as no knockdown.

Frostburg State Trackmen Beaten At Buckhannon

W.Va. Wesleyan Wins, 95 To 35

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., May 8 —Coach Sam Ross' West Virginia Wesleyan thinclads remained undefeated here today by turning back the Frostburg State Teachers trackmen, 95-35, in a dual meet.

The Wesleyan squad captured 12 of the 15 events in the track meet, losing only the 220-yard run, the discus throw and the high jump.

Trail was the big winner for Wesleyan, scoring two firsts, a second and running with a winning relay team for the victors.

Coach Ken Babcock said his Frostburg Bobcats who dropped their fourth meet in five outings this spring, were handicapped somewhat by the loss of Bruce May, the mile and two-mile distance runner for the visitors. May also will miss the remaining Frostburg meet at Waynesburg on Saturday because of an infected foot. The summary:

Potomac State Defeats D&E By 4-1 Count

Richardson Posts Third Pitching Win

KEYSER, W. Va., May 8—Potomac State's Catamounts used only one hit in scoring two runs in the second inning today and that was enough as the Keyser club went on to a 4-1 baseball victory over Davis and Elkins College.

The lone hit, a single by Rudy Telek, four walks and four stolen bases resulted in the two-run inning which gave Austin "Tuffy" Richardson a big enough cushion to post his third pitching victory this season without a loss.

The young southpaw held D&E to six hits and kept the visitors scoreless until the ninth when Jack Haller's double, an infield out and an error produced D&E's only run.

Potomac State chalked up its eighth victory of the campaign and gained revenge for a 10-1 lacing at the hands of the Elkins nine last week.

Held to four hits by Deliere, Potomac State punched over single runs in the fourth and eighth in addition to the pair in the second inning. The big blows in the Catamounts' attack were a pair of two-base hits by Richardson and Ed Helminski. Herndon Wilkins hit a pinch sacrifice fly in the eighth to account for the victors' final tally. Scores Despite Illness

FREEBORN, Minn. (AP) — Neil Pierce's medical history reads much like that of any polio victim — seven months in a hospital 10 years ago, two operations and an underdeveloped right leg and a noticeable limp.

There, however, the resemblance ends. Neil, a high school sophomore, averaged 20 points a game for the Freeborn High School basketball team.

His athletic ability doesn't stop with basketball. Last fall he was a regular offensive end on the football team which won six games. As a ninth grader, he was the baseball's team regular first baseman.

Bases-Loaded Homer By Hoak Beats Dodgers

Cincinnati Tops Brooklyn, 7 To 6

BROOKLYN, May 8 (AP) — Don Hoak's bases-filled home run off Don Newcombe in the eighth offset a three-run counter-blast by Brooklyn in its half of the inning and gave the Cincinnati Redlegs their ninth consecutive victory tonight, 7-6.

The triumph concluded the Reds' Eastern swing, which resulted in victories in all nine games. Not since 1940 when Cincinnati went on to win the pennant has a team from the Rhineland swept an Eastern trip.

The victory not only boosted the Reds past Brooklyn into second place, by a half game, but it marked the first time pitcher Warren Hacker has been able to defeat the Dodgers since July 19, 1954. The righthander needed help from Herschel Freeman in the eighth to end a personal eight-game losing skein to the Dodgers.

Tribe Belts Yankees, 10-4, Behind Wynn

Wertz, Woodling Maris Hit Homers

CLEVELAND, May 8 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians battered four New York pitchers for 13 hits, including three home runs and their second straight from the Yankees, 10-4 tonight. Three-run homers by Vic Wertz and Gene Woodling and a two-run blast by rookie Roger Maris helped Early Wynn post his third victory.

Mickey Mantle's fourth homer of the season accounted for the first three Yankee runs.

The Yankees jumped to a 3-0 lead in the third on singles by Tony Kubek and Gil McDougald, and Mantle's homer over the centerfield fence.

Starter Art Ditmar went to the showers in the fourth inning after giving up a walk, three singles, and Wertz' three-run homer into the right-field stands, his first of the year.

Tommy Byrne, the losing pitcher, replaced Ditmar and could retire only four of the 12 batters he faced. He gave up five Indians' runs. The veteran lefthander hit Wertz and Chico Carrasquel with pitches, walked two and gave up three hits, two for extra bases. He was replaced in the sixth by Bob Grim after Woodling's homer over the right-field fence.

California Horse Officials Dislike Shoemaker Ruling

LOS ANGELES, May 8 (INS)—A California racing official and others took sharp issue today with stewards at Churchill Downs over their suspension of jockey Willie Shoemaker for his "error in judgment" ride in the Kentucky Derby last Saturday.

Shoemaker was set down for 15 days for misjudging the finish line aboard Gallant Man, which finished second.

George Holmes, member of the California Horse Racing Board, termed the stewards' action "the most unfair ruling I've heard of in racing." He added:

"The California board will accept the ruling of the Kentucky stewards reluctantly, but we certainly don't agree with them."

Mervyn LeRoy, president of Hollywood Park, where Shoemaker is a popular rider, agreed with Holmes. He said: "It's the worst decision I can recall."

Smith Drives In Six Runs In Cardinal Win

St. Louis Defeats N.Y. Giants, 13-4

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—Catcher Hal Smith drove in six runs with a homer and two singles and the St. Louis Cardinals in general had a happy time at the plate today in clubbing the crippled New York Giants, 13-4.

After trailing 3-0 for three innings, the Cards broke down the Giants' pitching staff with two runs in the fourth, four in the fifth, two in the seventh and four more in the eighth. They fattened their averages with 19 hits.

Smith was the big man in the clutch. His first single sent home two runners in the fourth, his homer in the seventh after Wally Moon's triple counted two more, and he climaxed the eighth with another two-run single.

Moon clouted his fifth homer of the year with two aboard in the fifth. Al Dark stretched his hitting streak to 15 games, and Stan Musial rapped three singles to increase his career total to 2,812 hits. That tied him with George Sisler for 20th place in the all-time hit parade. Moon's homer sent Johnny Antonelli, New York's ace lefty, to the showers.

Calumet Farms Entry Arrives For Preakness

Two Derby Starters Drop From Classic

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Calumet leveled both barrels, Kentucky Derby winner Iron Liege and Gen. Duke, at the May 18 Preakness today and two would-be targets were taken down immediately.

T. M. Kerr's Round Table, third in the derby, and John L. Applebaum's Mister Jive, seventh in the Kentucky classic last Saturday, were declared out of the $100,000-added Preakness at Pimlico.

Horses Are Travel Weary

At about the same time, Iron Liege and Gen. Duke arrived on the scene of the mile and three sixteenths race. They appeared travel weary, but no more so than anybody else would after standing up in a box car for 24 hours.

Gen. Duke continued wearing a special shoe on the sore left foot which kept him out of the derby. However, the feeling around the Calumet stable is that he will be better by a week from Saturday.

The consensus, from stable foreman Al Filocomo to Iron Liege's groom Wendell Griffin, is that Gen. Duke is the stronger 3-year-old prospect of the pair.

The withdrawal of Round Table and Mister Jive left the Preakness nose counters with a maximum of 10 probable starters, and possibly as few as five.

Maintenance of the fever pitch created by the storybook derby rests at the moment with Gallant Man and Bold Ruler. If neither is sent to the Preakness, the bottom might drop out of what last weekend shaped up as the most intriguing of 81 Preakness runnings.

No Decision Yet

The decision on Gallant man won't be forthcoming for at least a few more days. The derby runner-up by a nose in a disputed finish had a rough train ride to New York from Louisville and trainer Johnny Nerud wants to observe his recovery for a while.

Bold Ruler, fourth in the derby as the betting favorite, was on the same train.

The only other starter out of the nine in the derby being counted upon as a Preakness probable is the fifth place Federal Hill.

The other very likely prospects are Inswept, Gough Thompson's winner of the Chesapeake at Laurel, and Nah Hiss, owned by Jules Schwartz who has the contract to sweep up after the races.

The "maybe" list is small with Gama, Gannet and Cohoes mentioned.

Signs For Bout

Knights Of Columbus Join 5-Team City Softball Loop

Old Germans Are Only Holdover Team

The Knights of Columbus have joined the City Softball League, Rec director Gene Mason announced last night, making the circuit a five-team affair this season.

The Caseys' entry will take the place of Johnson's Grocery, last year's champions who have decided to drop from the league.

The pull-out of the Johnson's team leaves the City League with only one holdover team, the Old Germans, who will be back with Brindle Long at the helm as manager.

Other teams in the loop are Old Export, managed by John Reitmeier; the Caseys, piloted by Mickey Clark; the Queen City Hermans, with John Allen at the helm; and the Blue Ribbon Bakery, managed by Don Ritter.

Leaving the league this season were Johnson's, Ritter's Social Club and Hygienic Sanitation.

Johnson's won the title last year by copping the split season playoffs, 2-0, over Hysanco. The Grocers won the second half season with a 12-3 record after Hygienic had copped the first half with a 9-1 mark.

Mason said last night that the five team circuit will conclude with a Shaughnessy playoff for the top four teams this year. Games will be played every Wednesday and Friday and the season is expected to open on May 22.

Williams Belts Three Homers, Boston Downs Chisox 4-1

Ted Bats In All Runs For Red Sox Nine

Boosts Total To 9 Circuit Swats For Junior Loop Lead

CHICAGO, May 8 (AP)—Ted Williams slammed three homers today—giving him a total of four in his last five times at bat—to power the Boston Red Sox to their fourth straight victory, a 4-1 triumph over the slumping Chicago White Sox.

Williams welded three home runs in a row, hitting a pair in his first two trips today after his ninth-inning two-run smash last night had given Boston a 4-3 victory over the Palehose.

Taking advantage of a brisk Comiskey Park tailwind, the "Splendid Splinter" lofted a four-bagger into the right field upper deck in the first inning and parked one in the left field lower stands in the third.

The league-leading hitter, hiking his mark to .474, now has collected nine homers for the season. He didn't bag that many last year until July 26, winding up with 24 for the campaign. Only once last year did he homer in Comiskey Park, and that was off Bob Keegan, today's loser.

Williams flied to left in his third at bat today, to end a streak of being on base 11 straight times and getting five consecutive hits. But then he found the target again in the 8th, banging another home into the top right field tier to score Billy Klaus, who had singled, ahead of him.

Mistaken Identity

NEW YORK (AP)—Umpire Ed Runge put Mickey Mantle out of a ball game in Detroit two years ago. He did again in Yankee Stadium this spring but this time it was a case of mistaken identity.

Mantle had just been called out on strikes and said a few things to Runge. As Jim Piersall, Boston center fielder, came across the diamond he said something to Mantle, and Mickey cussed him back. Runge heard Mickey's words and, thinking the Yankee slugger was talking about the umpire, thumbed Mantle to the clubhouse.

The Yankees won the game in the 10th on Yogi Berra's home run, 3-2.

Tom Snyder Will Shoot For Senior Meet Mark

New Discus Record Friday Is Goal Of Fort Hill Athlete

Tom Snyder has broken the Fort Hill school record twice this year in the discus throw and on Friday will attempt to crack the Senior High School Meet mark which has been on the books since 1952.

Prior to this year the Fort Hill school record of 132 feet, 8 inches was held by Gene Weber. Snyder erased that mark in the Handley Invitational by heaving the "flying saucer" 138 feet, 4 inches. Later he broke his own record with a throw of 138 feet, 6 inches in a dual meet with Beall High School. In two other meets this year Snyder turned in throws of 125 feet, 11 inches and 128 feet, 2¾ inches. The last two marks are below the county record which is 131 feet, 5½ inches and was set by Stine, of Fort Hill in 1952.

Tomorrow's meet in which Fort Hill is the defending champion and in which Allegany and Beall also will compete will comprise 15 events and will get under way at 3:30 o'clock at Fort Hill Stadium. Robert E. Pence will be the director for the first time.

Here are the county meet records the boys will shoot at tomorrow.

Bengals Wallop Senators, 11-3

Washington Nats Lose 10th Straight

DETROIT, May 8 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers blasted four Washington pitchers for 12 hits and sent the last-place Senators spinning to their 10th straight defeat 11-3, today at Briggs Stadium.

The Senators got to starter Duke Maas for 10 safeties in the first five innings, but ace reliefer Jim Bunning came on and didn't allow the Senators another hit the rest of the way. The victory went to Maas, his fourth in a row after one defeat.

It was the Tigers' sixth triumph in their last seven starts and the Senators' 18th setback in 22 contests.

The Senators twice held the lead, opening the scoring with a run in the third inning and getting two more in the fifth after Detroit took a brief 2-1 lead in the fourth.

The Tigers broke the game open with four runs in the fifth inning, sending 10 men to bat against Russ Kemmerer and Dick Hyde. Kemmerer, making his second start since being obtained from Boston failed to retire a batter in the fifth.

The Tigers added two more in the sixth when Charlie Maxwell hit his second home run off the third deck facade in right field following a base on balls, and three more in their last two times up against Dick Brodowski and Garland Shifflett.

Sugar Ray Rejects July Title Fight

Would Meet Basilio In September Bout

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson today rejected a proposal to defend his title against welterweight king Carmen Basilio in July. He said he would rather fight in September.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, told Robinson he would like to promote the fight at Yankee Stadium in early July.

"It could be real hot then," said Robinson, who regained the middleweight crown from Gene Fullmer May 1. "I have a mental block about fighting on hot nights ever since the Joey Maxim fight. If we make the fight, it will have to be in September."

Robinson collapsed from heat prostration in the 14th round of his light heavyweight title fight with Maxim at Yankee Stadium, June 25, 1952. He had been far ahead when he collapsed from the 104-degree heat.

Del Flanagan Gets 90 Days

Fighter Struck City Patrolman

MINNEAPOLIS, May 8 (AP) — Del Flanagan, nationally ranked St. Paul welterweight, drew a 90-day workhouse sentence today for hitting a Minneapolis policeman.

The 28-year-old fighter, pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct, made a public apology to Patrolman Leo Bessner.

Flanagan was accused of striking Bessner twice when the policeman tried to subdue him yesterday morning after the boxer and his brother were ejected from a bar.

Del's attorney pleaded for leniency, contending the fighter had a "letdown" following his training period for a recent bout with Kid Gavilan.

But Municipal judge Luther Sletten told Flanagan "you've had your last chance." He referred to two previous convictions for fighting outside the ring.

Bill Reichart, University of North Dakota hockey star, set the school record for a single game by scoring seven goals. He did it in 1954 against Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota.

Duncan Lanum, Dartmouth's 1956 football captain, is a heavyweight wrestler on the Indian varsity.

Exercise Boy Gets $80,000 Court Award

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A federal jury awarded $80,000 to a rider whose leg was broken when two race horses crashed head-on while working out at a New York track, court papers showed today.

Wesley E. Brite, 37-year-old "exercise boy," said he was riding Mrs. Fannie K. Hertz' "Speedy Wave" Oct. 17, 1954 at Belmont Park.

Suddenly a riderless, runaway horse, "Star of Roses", smashed into them, Brite said. Both horses were killed and Brite suffered a compound leg fracture.

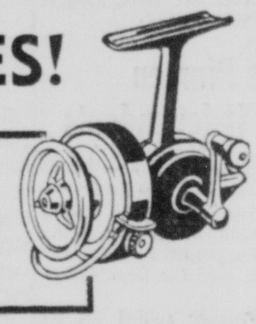

Brite said "Star of Roses" was "unruly, vicious" and "of a dangerous nature." The horse was owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham of the Maine Chance Farm, Lexington, Ky., defendant in the suit.

Mistaken Identity

NEW YORK (AP)—Umpire Ed Runge put Mickey Mantle out of a ball game in Detroit two years ago. He did again in Yankee Stadium this spring but this time it was a case of mistaken identity.

Mantle had just been called out on strikes and said a few things to Runge. As Jim Piersall, Boston center fielder, came across the diamond he said something to Mantle, and Mickey cussed him back. Runge heard Mickey's words and, thinking the Yankee slugger was talking about the umpire, thumbed Mantle to the clubhouse.

The Yankees won the game in the 10th on Yogi Berra's home run, 3-2.

Tom Snyder Will Shoot For Senior Meet Mark

New Discus Record Friday Is Goal Of Fort Hill Athlete

Tom Snyder has broken the Fort Hill school record twice this year in the discus throw and on Friday will attempt to crack the Senior High School Meet mark which has been on the books since 1952.

Prior to this year the Fort Hill school record of 132 feet, 8 inches was held by Gene Weber. Snyder erased that mark in the Handley Invitational by heaving the "flying saucer" 138 feet, 4 inches. Later he broke his own record with a throw of 138 feet, 6 inches in a dual meet with Beall High School. In two other meets this year Snyder turned in throws of 125 feet, 11 inches and 128 feet, 2¾ inches. The last two marks are below the county record which is 131 feet, 5½ inches and was set by Stine, of Fort Hill in 1952.

Tomorrow's meet in which Fort Hill is the defending champion and in which Allegany and Beall also will compete will comprise 15 events and will get under way at 3:30 o'clock at Fort Hill Stadium. Robert E. Pence will be the director for the first time.

Here are the county meet records the boys will shoot at tomorrow.

Washington Nats Lose 10th Straight

DETROIT, May 8 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers blasted four Washington pitchers for 12 hits and sent the last-place Senators spinning to their 10th straight defeat 11-3, today at Briggs Stadium.

The Senators got to starter Duke Maas for 10 safeties in the first five innings, but ace reliefer Jim Bunning came on and didn't allow the Senators another hit the rest of the way. The victory went to Maas, his fourth in a row after one defeat.

It was the Tigers' sixth triumph in their last seven starts and the Senators' 18th setback in 22 contests.

The Senators twice held the lead, opening the scoring with a run in the third inning and getting two more in the fifth after Detroit took a brief 2-1 lead in the fourth.

The Tigers broke the game open with four runs in the fifth inning, sending 10 men to bat against Russ Kemmerer and Dick Hyde. Kemmerer, making his second start since being obtained from Boston failed to retire a batter in the fifth.

The Tigers added two more in the sixth when Charlie Maxwell hit his second home run off the third deck facade in right field following a base on balls, and three more in their last two times up against Dick Brodowski and Garland Shifflett.

Western Maryland Netmen Win, 7-2

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 8 (AP)—Western Maryland showed some of the ability which has given it the northern division lead in Mason-Dixon Conference tennis competition today, defeating Johns Hopkins 7-2.

The Green Terrors now are 11-1 overall and 8-1 in the conference. With matches remaining against American U. and Mt. St. Mary's, they will be hard to catch in the six-team division. Randolph-Macon is the southern leader. The playoff probably will be held here May 17. Hopkins is now 3-3 in the conference and 4-5 overall.

Sugar Ray Rejects July Title Fight

Would Meet Basilio In September Bout

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson today rejected a proposal to defend his title against welterweight king Carmen Basilio in July. He said he would rather fight in September.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, told Robinson he would like to promote the fight at Yankee Stadium in early July.

"It could be real hot then," said Robinson, who regained the middleweight crown from Gene Fullmer May 1. "I have a mental block about fighting on hot nights ever since the Joey Maxim fight. If we make the fight, it will have to be in September."

Robinson collapsed from heat prostration in the 14th round of his light heavyweight title fight with Maxim at Yankee Stadium, June 25, 1952. He had been far ahead when he collapsed from the 104-degree heat.

Del Flanagan Gets 90 Days

Fighter Struck City Patrolman

MINNEAPOLIS, May 8 (AP) — Del Flanagan, nationally ranked St. Paul welterweight, drew a 90-day workhouse sentence today for hitting a Minneapolis policeman.

The 28-year-old fighter, pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct, made a public apology to Patrolman Leo Bessner.

Flanagan was accused of striking Bessner twice when the policeman tried to subdue him yesterday morning after the boxer and his brother were ejected from a bar.

Del's attorney pleaded for leniency, contending the fighter had a "letdown" following his training period for a recent bout with Kid Gavilan.

But Municipal judge Luther Sletten told Flanagan "you've had your last chance." He referred to two previous convictions for fighting outside the ring.

Bill Reichart, University of North Dakota hockey star, set the school record for a single game by scoring seven goals. He did it in 1954 against Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota.

Duncan Lanum, Dartmouth's 1956 football captain, is a heavyweight wrestler on the Indian varsity.

Bottom's Up

WAITING for the Washington Senators to win three straight games, Everett Barnett, a used car lot manager in the capital, took up this perch and announced he would stay there until the capital crew copped three straight. The Washington club loaned uniform to Barnett. (International)

Exercise Boy Gets $80,000 Court Award

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A federal jury awarded $80,000 to a rider whose leg was broken when two race horses crashed head-on while working out at a New York track, court papers showed today.

Wesley E. Brite, 37-year-old "exercise boy," said he was riding Mrs. Fannie K. Hertz' "Speedy Wave" Oct. 17, 1954 at Belmont Park.

Suddenly a riderless, runaway horse, "Star of Roses", smashed into them, Brite said. Both horses were killed and Brite suffered a compound leg fracture.

Brite said "Star of Roses" was "unruly, vicious" and "of a dangerous nature." The horse was owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham of the Maine Chance Farm, Lexington, Ky., defendant in the suit.

Doctors Hope Injury Won't Impede Score

Too Early To Tell If Vision Impaired

CLEVELAND, May 8 (AP)—Pitcher Herb Score will see again from the right eye which a line drive smashed last night, but the degree of vision is now the thing in doubt, an eye specialist indicated tonight.

X-rays will be taken tomorrow to further the diagnosis of injury to baseball's most promising young pitcher, who will be 24 next month.

The eye specialist, Dr. Charles I. Thomas, earlier today had told Gil McDougald, New York Yankee infielder who hit the ball which struck Score:

Hit Score Flush

"The eye will be saved. It is beginning to clear up. I can't tell yet the full extent of damage. Because of the eye hemorrhage, it is like looking through a fog.

"Fortunately, the ball struck him flush. It caught the top of the eyebrow bone, the cheek bone and nose. The nose was fractured. It appears the bone structure of his face absorbed most of the impact that would have destroyed the eye.

"There is no brain injury."

Dr. Thomas said "what signs we could see were encouraging" and that Score showed "considerable improvement" overnight.

McDougald, near tears in the dressing room last night, told a reporter he would quit baseball if Score went blind.

Spur Of Moment

"That was a spur of the moment statement," the Yankee infielder said today.

McDougald, unable to see Score at Lakeside Hospital because doctors barred all visitors, went to Dr. Thomas' offices to find out about the pitcher's condition.

Newsmen, who had been allowed to visit Score earlier in the morning, reported he was in good spirits and had eaten a hearty breakfast.

"I never had pain like this before," Score told them. "It's a new experience for me. When I arrived at the hospital last night I was numb—it didn't hurt very much. But it got worse during the night, and I did not sleep very much."

Indians General Manager Hank Greenberg, who also visited Score in the hospital, said doctors told him there was no dislocation of the lens of the eye, and no sign of detachment of the retina.

Cobb Concerned Over Score Injury

ATHERTON, Calif., May 8 (AP)—Ty Cobb expressed deep concern today over the eye and nose injuries suffered by Cleveland's brilliant young pitcher, Herb Score.

"I hope the boy will be all right," the famed Georgia Peach said in an interview. "He is a great pitcher and in a couple of years more will be one of the greatest."

Score was struck in the right eye last night by a line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald, veteran New York Yankee infielder.

Terrors Cop Fifth Track Meet Victory

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 8 (AP)—Western Maryland handed Loyola's Greyhounds their fourth defeat against no wins today with a 76½ to 45½ victory in a Mason-Dixon Conference track meet.

It was the fifth triumph against one defeat over-all for the Green Terrors, now 4-0 against conference competition. The weather was good today and no records were set.

Meet high scorer was Western Maryland's John Hort. He had 16 points on firsts in both hurdle events and seconds in the high jump and 880-yard run. Hugh McKenna, with 11 1-5 points, led Loyola. He took the 100 and 220 dashes and was on the winning relay.

Dressen Heads Back To D.C.

Would 'Rip Club Apart' In New Job

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP) — Charlie Dressen was headed back to town today, saying he'd "rip the club apart" if he accepted a front office job with the Washington Senators.

Dressen was manager of the same tattered Senators until yesterday, when club president Calvin Griffith hastened to Detroit to fire him. Griffith, saying "drastic" action was necessary after only four victories in 20 games, put the team in charge of Cookie Lavagetto, until then Dressen's top coach.

While getting the heave-ho in his third season of running things on the field, Dressen was offered the vaguely defined upstairs post of "coordinator of player personnel."

Dressen insisted on time to think it over and discuss terms with the board of directors. He said he'd want at least a three-year contract, assurances of money to rebuild the last-place team and authority to spend it. Griffith wasn't prepared to meet these demands on the spot, and it was uncertain whether the two could get together.

The most powerful gasoline any car can use!

ACCELERATING—
For quick getaway from a standing start, every cylinder of your car burns the maximum fuel charge. Unless your gasoline has sufficient octane, it can't burn evenly . . . can't deliver full power. Super Shell has all the octane any car needs for full-power acceleration!

CRUISING—
Octane is no problem when you're cruising along. Extra mileage is what you want here, and you get it with Super Shell. Super Shell has more combustion energy because it contains toluene, a major power ingredient of aviation fuel. This means extra miles at cruising speeds.

PASSING—
Acceleration for passing at highway speeds, when your engine's hot, requires still another octane value. Heat-stable aviation fuel components in Super Shell give your car knock-free power for safe passing.

Super Shell instantly and automatically supplies any engine with the full octane value required for knock-free power...under every driving condition

SUPER SHELL is the new grade of gasoline that automatically supplies modern high-compression cars with the octane value they need to meet every critical driving test.

This means you get maximum acceleration from a standing start . . . extra mileage at cruising speeds . . . extra energy for safe passing at highway speeds.

And Super Shell's TCP* additive is your "power insurance." TCP neutralizes harmful engine deposits and unleashes the full power of high octane, mile after mile.

That's why more and more motorists are switching to Super Shell—and reporting performance far better than they ever got before!

So stop in at your Shell Dealer's and fill up with Super Shell—at the new white pump!

Doctors Hope Injury Won't Impede Score

Too Early To Tell If Vision Impaired

CLEVELAND, May 8 (AP)—Pitcher Herb Score will see again from the right eye which a line drive smashed last night, but the degree of vision is now the thing in doubt, an eye specialist indicated tonight.

X-rays will be taken tomorrow to further the diagnosis of injury to baseball's most promising young pitcher, who will be 24 next month.

The eye specialist, Dr. Charles I. Thomas, earlier today had told Gil McDougald, New York Yankee infielder who hit the ball which struck Score:

Hit Score Flush

"The eye will be saved. It is beginning to clear up. I can't tell yet the full extent of damage. Because of the eye hemorrhage, it is like looking through a fog.

"Fortunately, the ball struck him flush. It caught the top of the eyebrow bone, the cheek bone and nose. The nose was fractured. It appears the bone structure of his face absorbed most of the impact that would have destroyed the eye.

"There is no brain injury."

Dr. Thomas said "what signs we could see were encouraging" and that Score showed "considerable improvement" overnight.

McDougald, near tears in the dressing room last night, told a reporter he would quit baseball if Score went blind.

Spur Of Moment

"That was a spur of the moment statement," the Yankee infielder said today.

McDougald, unable to see Score at Lakeside Hospital because doctors barred all visitors, went to Dr. Thomas' offices to find out about the pitcher's condition.

Newsmen, who had been allowed to visit Score earlier in the morning, reported he was in good spirits and had eaten a hearty breakfast.

"I never had pain like this before," Score told them. "It's a new experience for me. When I arrived at the hospital last night I was numb—it didn't hurt very much. But it got worse during the night, and I did not sleep very much."

Indians General Manager Hank Greenberg, who also visited Score in the hospital, said doctors told him there was no dislocation of the lens of the eye, and no sign of detachment of the retina.

Cobb Concerned Over Score Injury

ATHERTON, Calif., May 8 (AP)—Ty Cobb expressed deep concern today over the eye and nose injuries suffered by Cleveland's brilliant young pitcher, Herb Score.

"I hope the boy will be all right," the famed Georgia Peach said in an interview. "He is a great pitcher and in a couple of years more will be one of the greatest."

Score was struck in the right eye last night by a line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald, veteran New York Yankee infielder.

Terrors Cop Fifth Track Meet Victory

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 8 (AP)—Western Maryland handed Loyola's Greyhounds their fourth defeat against no wins today with a 76½ to 45½ victory in a Mason-Dixon Conference track meet.

It was the fifth triumph against one defeat over-all for the Green Terrors, now 4-0 against conference competition. The weather was good today and no records were set.

Meet high scorer was Western Maryland's John Hort. He had 16 points on firsts in both hurdle events and seconds in the high jump and 880-yard run. Hugh McKenna, with 11 1-5 points, led Loyola. He took the 100 and 220 dashes and was on the winning relay.

Dressen Heads Back To D.C.

Would 'Rip Club Apart' In New Job

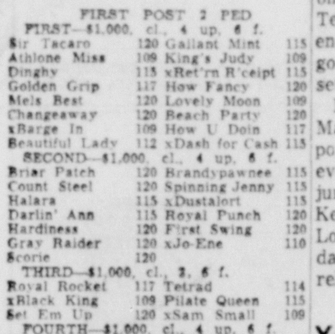

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP) — Charlie Dressen was headed back to town today, saying he'd "rip the club apart" if he accepted a front office job with the Washington Senators.

Dressen was manager of the same tattered Senators until yesterday, when club president Calvin Griffith hastened to Detroit to fire him. Griffith, saying "drastic" action was necessary after only four victories in 20 games, put the team in charge of Cookie Lavagetto, until then Dressen's top coach.

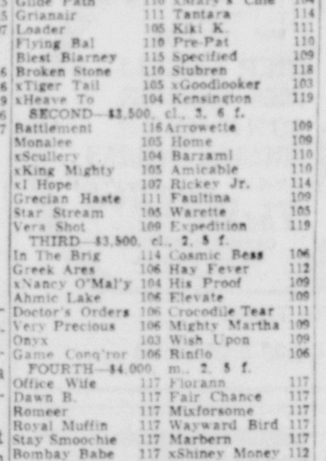

While getting the heave-ho in his third season of running things on the field, Dressen was offered the vaguely defined upstairs post of "coordinator of player personnel."

Dressen insisted on time to think it over and discuss terms with the board of directors. He said he'd want at least a three-year contract, assurances of money to rebuild the last-place team and authority to spend it. Griffith wasn't prepared to meet these demands on the spot, and it was uncertain whether the two could get together.

The most powerful gasoline any car can use!

ACCELERATING—
For quick getaway from a standing start, every cylinder of your car burns the maximum fuel charge. Unless your gasoline has sufficient octane, it can't burn evenly . . . can't deliver full power. Super Shell has all the octane any car needs for full-power acceleration!

CRUISING—
Octane is no problem when you're cruising along. Extra mileage is what you want here, and you get it with Super Shell. Super Shell has more combustion energy because it contains toluene, a major power ingredient of aviation fuel. This means extra miles at cruising speeds.

PASSING—
Acceleration for passing at highway speeds, when your engine's hot, requires still another octane value. Heat-stable aviation fuel components in Super Shell give your car knock-free power for safe passing.

Super Shell instantly and automatically supplies any engine with the full octane value required for knock-free power... under every driving condition

SUPER SHELL is the new grade of gasoline that automatically supplies modern high-compression cars with the octane value they need to meet every critical driving test.

This means you get maximum acceleration from a standing start . . . extra mileage at cruising speeds . . . extra energy for safe passing at highway speeds.

And Super Shell's TCP* additive is your "power insurance." TCP neutralizes harmful engine deposits and unleashes the full power of high octane, mile after mile.

That's why more and more motorists are switching to Super Shell—and reporting performance far better than they ever got before!

So stop in at your Shell Dealer's and fill up with Super Shell—at the new white pump!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 8 (INS)—Is Ava Gardner still going to deny she's divorcing Frank Sinatra now that her No. 1 boyfriend, Walter Chiari, will be in Mexico in 10 days? The Italian actor, who has a bit with Ava in "The Little Hut" but who is a big favorite in Europe, arrives in New York May 13 on his first visit to the U. S. A. His agents, the William Morris Office, have him booked on Steve Allen's TV show the 19th.

Immediately after, he planes to Mexico City to join Ava who is making "The Sun Also Rises." Whether or not their marriage will take place there (after a Sinatra divorce) only Ava and Walter know.

I do know that both Miss Gardner and Chiari expect to be in Hollywood in June. As she has established legal residence in Spain, Ava can return to this country on a visitor's permit without upsetting her "working out of this country" tax situation.

Due to be signed any edition is the contract young Tony Perkins has to star on Broadway in "Look Homeward Angel," Thomas Wolfe's powerful novel. Tony has all but agreed with Kermit Bloomgarten to go to New York in July.

An interesting feature of the whole story is that after the play has its run, Tony will make it as a picture for Paramount. Ketti Frings has already written the dramatization, and since this is one of Wolfe's best known books, if not the best known, it should have popularity in the big town as well as on the screen.

A few weeks ago, when I was in Palm Springs, Alan Ladd told me that he was hopeful of getting Julie London for "The Deep Six," his next independent at Warners.

But Julie had a date at MGM for Robert Taylor's picture, "Three Guns," and it was impossible to keep both engagements.

But Alan is pleased that today he was able to sign pretty Dianne Foster, on a loanout from Columbia. Dianne was about to take off and think things out by herself after her separation from writer Joel Murcott when she received the offer from Alan. Keenan Wynn also has a top role—he's getting better and better as an actor.

Just seems as if the fates have conspired to keep Jan Sterling and Paul Douglas apart. Jan, who is finishing "Slaughter on 10th Avenue" for U-I, has agreed to make two more pictures for this studio. That's how well they like her.

Jan's first is "Christmas in Paradise" with Hedy Lamarr, which starts almost immediately. Paul is kept in New York with his play, "Hole in the Head."

In "Christmas in Paradise," Jan and Hedy play two former movie stars who are pals. Patty McCormack, the cute little monster, has been chosen by Producer Sy Gomberg and Director Jack Sher for the third important femme role.

Little has been printed about Cantinflas' charities in his native Mexico, but they are many. I just learned that he is spending some of his earnings from "Around the World in 80 Days" to finance the building of a new wing on an orphanage. He also maintains special offices and lawyers who consult with poor people in trouble and in need of money.

I hope Mike Todd will be able to get Cantinflas for "Don Quixote," but so far the only one who has put his signature on a contract is Fernandel.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Park Pool, Bathhouse Undergoing Repairs

Patrons of the swimming pool at Constitution Park will find a redesigned, newly-painted bathhouse interior when the pool opens for the summer season Memorial Day, May 30.

Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, said the bathhouse renovation was worked out by N. Gwynn Fletcher, former recreation director, and himself and work was done by park personnel.

The pool itself is also being cleaned and checked, Golden said.

The bathhouse interior has been repainted in two shades of green and with a touch of gray.

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—James E. Patterson, secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Industrial Union Council, said today the council would try to have expelled from membership all union members who were proven Communists.

He said that "if they're expelled from their unions, then it will be up to the companies to get rid of them."

The Brittanica On Humor

I don't even read the "Encyclopedia Brittanica" Year Book for laughs. I mean you have to be pretty desperate to go prowling through the Brittanica for jokes—but there are some. In the 1957 Year Book, sandwiched in between "Human Rights," Covenant of: see International Law" and "Humphrey, George M.", you will find "Humor of 1956" and, by George, all three pages of it is right square off the iconoscope. If you weren't on television last year, you just weren't funny — at least not to the Brittanica you weren't.

Just the same the Brittanica came up with some pretty good comedy. For the second year in a row, the Garry Moore show, only daytime show in the bunch, was selected as an example of good TV comedy. The Year Book printed excerpts from a very funny sketch (written by Bill Demling and Vinnie Bogert), in which Moore decides to enliven the language with some new words in place of those tired old things we've been using all our life.

To show how that can be done, Moore and his bunch did "Dragnet" with brand new words. Went like this:

"This is the flanagan. A teeming bortisneed of ten million snidlits. My job is to keep law and griftits. I'm a Floop. The orken you are about to hear is plut. It was taken from the files of the berkendaddle. Only the girfs have been changed to protect the zahgan. . . . A report came in from headquarters that a woman with two mozniks had been jidnicked and glagened by a man carrying .38 calibre dootenforzer, model M-1. It was the fourth jidnicking in three days. . . . My job — to find this glagener. I'm a Floop!"

The woman who had been glagened was, of course, Denise Lor who takes up the story at this point: "I was upstairs with my two little moznicks. It was their bedtime. I was reading them a story about little red stootniggin and the three snorks. Suddenly the doorbell rang. It was this man with the .38 calibre dootenforzer."

"After he told you it was a jidnick, did he glagen anything?"

"That's the funny part. He didn't take any bliznit and there was plenty in my purse."

"What did he glagen?"

"A little Mama-Schlumple that belonged to my oldest Moznik. Had real curly hair and when you wound it up, it shimmeled all over the floor. Fnnny—isn't it — a grown man wanting a Mama-Schlumple."

And so forth. It's a very funny and fresh idea and I'm happy the Brittanica choose to immortalize it because so much of Moore's stuff is worthy of something better than the oblivion of daytime television. I'm more than a little astounded that any TV humor has found its way into a year book sandwiched in between Human Rights and George Humphrey.

Other examples of humor unearthed by the Encyclopedia Brittanica included Ernie Kovacs' parody of "Welcome Travelers" in which a guest tells about an unforgettable experience that "is etched on my memory"—except that he can't remember any of it.

Then there was George Gobel's monologue about elopements. "That'es how Alice and I got married: we eloped. It was a carefully planned elopement. She planned it. I didn't even know about it. See, what happened was we were on a date one night and we were sitting around a dark little soda fountain and the soda jerk said, 'Do you like chocolate malteds?' and Alice said: 'I do.' Then he said to me: 'Do you like chocolate malteds?' And I said: 'I do.' And the jerk said: 'You may now kiss the bride.' Now that I look back on it, I shoulda figured there was something kinky when we walked into that drugstore and the pharmacist was singing 'O Promise Me.' But I'm not sorry because Alice and I have been happily married for fourteen years now. Well, Alice has been happily married for fourteen years. I figure if I get six or seven happy years out of it, I'm ahead of the game."

Market Pushes Upward To Equal Peak For Year

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP) — An advance led by rails and aircrafts left the stock market equal to its peak for the year today.

While the upturn was not spectacular, it sufficed to send the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 80 cents at $182.00. That was the same as the year's high set Jan. 4.

Oils, radio - televisions, farm equipments and building material issues joined the upswing. Motors, steels and metals were mixed. Airlines were mostly lower.

Pennsylvania gained 1⅛, a fairly wide advance for this slow mover. Other rails which showed gains included Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Railway, New York Central and Santa Fe.

Douglas, United Aircraft and Northrop aircrafts gained more than a point with lesser advances scored by Boeing and North American.

Selected special issues responded to buying flurries. This included Lukens Steel, up 1.

General Tire, which had raced up 9 points yesterday, fell 7 today. It was the most active stock.

International Harvester, Allis Chalmers and Deere pushed ahead although they were not particularly active.

Volume for the day picked up at 2,590,000 shares, compared with 2,300,000 yesterday.

The actual bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 heart	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 no trump	Pass	5 diamonds
Pass	6 hearts	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Jack of diamonds.

That the Blackwood convention is frequently subject to improper usage has long been a contention of this column. Today's hand selected from a recent tournament features one example of this abuse.

South elected to open the bidding with one heart and his partner responded with a game forcing raise to three. South's original 18 point holding became worth 19 when his suit was supported and a move toward slam was indicated.

South's manner of expression took a well known pattern; namely, "four no trump," a question which he might have saved himself the trouble of asking. It was hardly likely that North's jump was based on an aceless hand, and if it were then surely the partnership would be solid in all other respects. North admitted that he had an ace, and South bid six hearts.

Unfortunately, he had to contend with the opening lead of the jack of diamonds and had no choice but to take the finesse. When this lost, the contract was doomed.

At another table, South handled the auction with greater delicacy. He astutely avoided the use of a four no trump call. First, because a holding of two or three small cards in a side suit is not conducive to the use of Blackwood; and secondly because if it should become expedient to play the hand at no trump, the way should be left clear for North to become declarer at that contract should it develop that he has a tenace in diamonds.

He decided, therefore, to "tell" instead of "ask" and rebid three spades. North then showed the diamond ace, and South countered by bidding five clubs. North bid five no trump, showing a willingness to play for slam in either spades or no trump. South proceeded to six no trump.

The opening lead was a spade which declarer won and started development of the heart suit. The jack went to West's king, and, when the diamond jack came back, declarer refused the finesse in favor of going for the hearts. When the queen showed up, the hand was a laydown.

His agents, the William Morris Office, have him booked on Steve Allen's TV show the 19th.

Immediately after, he planes to Mexico City to join Ava who is making "The Sun Also Rises." Whether or not their marriage will take place there (after a Sinatra divorce) only Ava and Walter know.

I do know that both Miss Gardner and Chiari expect to be in Hollywood in June. As she has established legal residence in Spain, Ava can return to this country on a visitor's permit without upsetting her "working out of this country" tax situation.

Due to be signed any edition is the contract young Tony Perkins has to star on Broadway in "Look Homeward Angel," Thomas Wolfe's powerful novel. Tony has all but agreed with Kermit Bloomgarten to go to New York in July.

An interesting feature of the whole story is that after the play has its run, Tony will make it as a picture for Paramount. Ketti Frings has already written the dramatization, and since this is one of Wolfe's best known books, if not the best known, it should have popularity in the big town as well as on the screen.

A few weeks ago, when I was in Palm Springs, Alan Ladd told me that he was hopeful of getting Julie London for "The Deep Six," his next independent at Warners.

But Julie had a date at MGM for Robert Taylor's picture, "Three Guns," and it was impossible to keep both engagements.

But Alan is pleased that today he was able to sign pretty Dianne Foster, on a loanout from Columbia. Dianne was about to take off and think things out by herself after her separation from writer Joel Murcott when she received the offer from Alan. Keenan Wynn also has a top role—he's getting better and better as an actor.

Just seems as if the fates have conspired to keep Jan Sterling and Paul Douglas apart. Jan, who is finishing "Slaughter on 10th Avenue" for U-I, has agreed to make two more pictures for this studio. That's how well they like her.

Jan's first is "Christmas in Paradise" with Hedy Lamarr, which starts almost immediately. Paul is kept in New York with his play, "Hole in the Head."

In "Christmas in Paradise," Jan and Hedy play two former movie stars who are pals. Patty McCormack, the cute little monster, has been chosen by Producer Sy Gomberg and Director Jack Sher for the third important feme role.

Little has been printed about Cantinflas' charities in his native Mexico, but they are many. I just learned that he is spending some of his earnings from "Around the World in 80 Days" to finance the building of a new wing on an orphanage. He also maintains special offices and lawyers who consult with poor people in trouble and in need of money.

I hope Mike Todd will be able to get Cantinflas for "Don Quixote," but so far the only one who has put his signature on a contract is Fernandel.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The stork has an October date with Joan and Jack Meredyth Lucas, making Bess Meredyth a grandmother for the third time.

Those who saw "The Pride and the Passion" sneak preview at San Diego are enthusiastic.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Park Pool, Bathhouse Undergoing Repairs

Patrons of the swimming pool at Constitution Park will find a redesigned, newly-painted bathhouse interior when the pool opens for the summer season Memorial Day, May 30.

Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, said the bathhouse renovation was worked out by N. Gwynn Fletcher, former recreation director, and himself and work was done by park personnel.

The pool itself is also being cleaned and checked, Golden said.

The bathhouse interior has been repainted in two shades of green and with a touch of gray.

Anti-Red Campaign

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—James E. Patterson, secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Industrial Union Council, said today the council would try to have expelled from membership all union members who were proven Communists.

He said that "if they're expelled from their unions, then it will be up to the companies to get rid of them."

The Brittanica On Humor

I don't even read the "Encyclopedia Brittanica" Year Book for laughs. I mean you have to be pretty desperate to go prowling through the Brittanica for jokes—but there are some. In the 1957 Year Book, sandwiched in between "Human Rights," Covenant of: see International Law" and "Humphrey, George M.", you will find "Humor of 1956" and, by George, all three pages of it is right square off the iconoscope. If you weren't on television last year, you just weren't funny — at least not to the Brittanica you weren't.

Just the same the Brittanica came up with some pretty good comedy. For the second year in a row, the Garry Moore show, only daytime show in the bunch, was selected as an example of good TV comedy. The Year Book printed excerpts from a very funny sketch (written by Bill Demling and Vinnie Bogert), in which Moore decides to enliven the language with some new words in place of those tired old things we've been using all our life.

To show how that can be done, Moore and his bunch did "Dragnet" with brand new words. Went like this:

"This is the flanagan. A teeming bortisneed of ten million snidlits. My job is to keep law and griftits. I'm a Floop. The orken you are about to hear is plut. It was taken from the files of the berkendaddle. Only the girfs have been changed to protect the zahgan. . . . A report came in from headquarters that a woman with two mozniks had been jidnicked and glagened by a man carrying .38 calibre dootenforzer, model M-1. It was the fourth jidnicking in three days. . . . My job — to find this glagener. I'm a Floop!"

The woman who had been glagened was, of course, Denise Lor who takes up the story at this point: "I was upstairs with my two little moznicks. It was their bedtime. I was reading them a story about little red stootniggin and the three snorks. Suddenly the doorbell rang. It was this man with the .38 calibre dootenforzer."

"After he told you it was a jidnick, did he glagen anything?"

"That's the funny part. He didn't take any bliznit and there was plenty in my purse."

"What did he glagen?"

"A little Mama-Schlumple that belonged to my oldest Moznik. Had real curly hair and when you wound it up, it shimmeled all over the floor. Fnnny—isn't it — a grown man wanting a Mama-Schlumple."

And so forth. It's a very funny and fresh idea and I'm happy the Brittanica choose to immortalize it because so much of Moore's stuff is worthy of something better than the oblivion of daytime television. I'm more than a little astounded that any TV humor has found its way into a year book sandwiched in between Human Rights and George Humphrey.

Other examples of humor unearthed by the Encyclopedia Brittanica included Ernie Kovacs' parody of "Welcome Travelers" in which a guest tells about an unforgettable experience that "is etched on my memory"—except that he can't remember any of it.

Then there was George Gobel's monologue about elopements. "That'es how Alice and I got married; we eloped. It was a carefully planned elopement. She planned it. I didn't even know about it. See, what happened was we were on a date one night and we were sitting around a dark little soda fountain and the soda jerk said, 'Do you like chocolate malteds?' and Alice said: 'I do.' Then he said to me: 'Do you like chocolate malteds?' And I said: 'I do.' And the jerk said: 'You may now kiss the bride.' Now that I look back on it, I shoulda figured there was something kinky when we walked into that drugstore and the pharmacist was singing 'O Promise Me.' But I'm not sorry because Alice and I have been happily married for fourteen years now. Well, Alice has been happily married for fourteen years. I figure if I get six or seven happy years out of it, I'm ahead of the game."

"I think you'd do ANYTHING to keep from taking me to the dance!"

Market Pushes Upward To Equal Peak For Year

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP) — An advance led by rails and aircrafts left the stock market equal to its peak for the year today.

While the upturn was not spectacular, it sufficed to send the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 80 cents at $182.00. That was the same as the year's high set Jan. 4.

Oils, radio - televisions, farm equipments and building material issues joined the upswing. Motors, steels and metals were mixed. Airlines were mostly lower.

Pennsylvania gained 1⅛, a fairly wide advance for this slow mover. Other rails which showed gains included Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Railway, New York Central and Santa Fe.

Douglas, United Aircraft and Northrop aircrafts gained more than a point with lesser advances scored by Boeing and North American.

Selected special issues responded to buying flurries. This included Lukens Steel, up 1.

General Tire, which had raced up 9 points yesterday, fell 7 today. It was the most active stock.

International Harvester, Allis Chalmers and Deere pushed ahead although they were not particularly active.

Volume for the day picked up at 2,590,000 shares, compared with 2,300,000 yesterday.

The actual bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 heart	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 no trump	Pass	5 diamonds
Pass	6 hearts	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Jack of diamonds.

That the Blackwood convention is frequently subject to improper usage has long been a contention of this column. Today's hand selected from a recent tournament features one example of this abuse.

South elected to open the bidding with one heart and his partner responded with a game forcing raise to three. South's original 18 point holding became worth 19 when his suit was supported and a move toward slam was indicated.

South's manner of expression took a well known pattern; namely, "four no trump," a question which he might have saved himself the trouble of asking. It was hardly likely that North's jump was based on an aceless hand, and if it were then surely the partnership would be solid in all other respects. North admitted that he had an ace, and South bid six hearts.

Unfortunately, he had to contend with the opening lead of the jack of diamonds and had no choice but to take the finesse. When this lost, the contract was doomed.

At another table, South handled the auction with greater delicacy. He astutely avoided the use of a four no trump call. First, because a holding of two or three small cards in a side suit is not conducive to the use of Blackwood; and secondly because if it should become expedient to play the hand at no trump, the way should be left clear for North to become declarer at that contract should it develop that he has a tenace in diamonds.

He decided, therefore, to "tell" instead of "ask" and rebid three spades. North then showed the diamond ace, and South countered by bidding five clubs. North bid five no trump, showing a willingness to play for slam in either spades or no trump. South proceeded to six no trump.

The opening lead was a spade which declarer won and started development of the heart suit. The jack went to West's king, and, when the diamond jack came back, declarer refused the finesse in favor of going for the hearts. When the queen showed up, the hand was a laydown.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved father, George Froelich, on his birthday, May 9, and who passed away August 12, 1956.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance
Just a memory sad and true.
Just the love and sweet devotion,
Of the ones who think of you.

Midlothian Club Meets At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—The Midlothian Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Matthew Skidmore, with Mrs. Paul Burnett presiding. Fourteen members of the club answered the roll call, and Mrs. Charles Hager, a member of the Frostburg club, was a visitor. Following the singing of the club's hymn of the month, "Fairest Lord Jesus," a history of the hymn was given by Mrs. Blaine Willetts.

The by-laws of the organization were read to the club by Mrs. Henry Barnes, and a review of the book: "The Tribe That Lost I's Head," was given by Mrs. Margaret Pratt. A hat sale, with each member modelling the hat she made, was conducted to raise funds with which to send delegates to the summer short course at College Park.

It was announced by the president that the June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Whitfield, Main Street, Frostburg.

Butler Testifies In Own Defense During Trial

Case May Go To Jury Early This Morning

Howard S. Butler, 55, of Piedmont, on trial for murder in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser, was on the stand for nearly an hour yesterday afternoon as witnesses gave concluding testimony.

The case is expected to go to the 12-man jury late this morning after Judge Ernest A. See instructs them and closing arguments are presented by the state and the defense.

Mortally wounded in the dual-shooting December 30 at Butler's apartment in Piedmont was Mrs. Velma Marie (Greenhorn) Sharon, 43, also of Piedmont. Butler was wounded in the left jaw and neck and also in the left side in the early morning shooting.

Butler Breaks Down

During part of his testimony Butler broke down and sobbed as he recalled the events leading up to the death of Mrs. Sharon.

He told the court he had known her for over 19 years and that she stayed at his apartment on various occasions and at times did his cooking for him. Both exchanged gifts with one another and last year the two of them had gone to Virginia on a vacation, sharing expenses.

Butler said he had met Mrs. Sharon after work on the evening prior to the shooting. He took her home and called for her later in the evening. Meanwhile he purchased two pints of whisky at the state liquor store in Piedmont and took them to his apartment.

The couple started out for Burlington, stopping along the way and had a couple of drinks from a bottle which he had in the car. Later, he said, they went to a restaurant-tavern in Burlington where they drank some beer and watched television.

Claims Accident

They returned to Butler's apartment about 10:30 p. m. and again began drinking. Butler said they discussed a payment on his car and also a payment on a coat he had given her for Christmas. Butler decided to clean his rifle as he planned to go to Grafton the following day and show it to a cousin.

He told the court "things were getting hazy from drinking more than usual," and while he prepared to clean the gun Mrs. Sharon went into the adjoining bedroom without his knowledge.

While sitting at the kitchen table, Butler said he drew the bolt of the gun back to take out some shells. As he pushed the safety forward the gun discharged and hit Mrs. Sharon, who was standing near an archway which separates the kitchen and bedroom.

He said he picked her up, walked her to the bed and placed her on it. Butler said he must have "lost a little of my mind," and shot himself in the neck and jaw.

Butler said that he remembered nothing more until two days later in Memorial Hospital and the first person he recognized was his son, Charles.

He said he didn't recall conversing with police in his hospital room on the day after the shooting.

In her testimony, Mrs. Betty Raker, operator of the restaurant-tavern, said the couple had

Invokes Amendments

George A. Meyers, formerly of Lonaconing, who spent three years in a federal prison as a Communist under the Smith Act, yesterday invoked the First and Fifth Amendments in refusing to tell a House Un-American Activities subcommittee probing Communist infiltration in heavy industry whether he is now a Communist. He was one of six party leaders convicted in 1952 of teaching and advocating the violent overthrow of the government. He was named to the national party executive board on Sunday. (AP Photofax)

George Meyers Balks In Probe Of Communism

Former Countian Refuses Testimony

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Three men believed to comprise the leadership of the Communist Party in Maryland and the nation's capital today refused to discuss their activities with a House Un-American Activities subcommittee.

George A. Meyers, former Lonaconing resident, and Irving Kandel of Baltimore, and William S. Johnson of Washington, each repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment.

Meyers and Kendel were questioned whether they had headed the party organization in Maryland and the District of Columbia. Johnson, cook in a Silver Spring restaurant, was queried whether he headed the party organization in the District.

7 Witnesses Appear

The three were among seven witnesses appearing before the Congressmen in the second day of their three-day hearing on Communism in industry.

The first witness Tuesday, an undercover agent for the FBI, told the committee the party believes "the group . . . that will carry forth its revolutionary aims is the working class" and that workers in heavy industry are the force which can do it.

The agent, Clifford C. Miller, Jr., said it "is the cardinal duty of comrades to attend their union meetings."

Meyers and Kandel were named as Communists by Miller, an employe at Bethlehem Steel's big Sparrows Point plant. Johnson was named by an informant at a previous committee hearing.

Others To Be Called

At the end of today's session, a committee staff member said "10 or 12 witnesses" remain to be called tomorrow. George Williams said the line of questioning "will touch on industry again."

For the first time during the hearing, immunity from criminal prosecution was offered a witness if he would cooperate fully. Committee counsel Richard Arens made the offer to Johnson.

But the stocky, 56-year-old Negro said: "I do not consider this committee a duly constitutional committee. And if I were granted immunity I would not cooperate under duress."

Mass Feeding Demonstration

Preparing sandwiches in the event of an emergency mass feeding program was part of the course taught last night in a class held at Allegany High School. Shown left to right are Mrs. Elizabeth Rizer and Mrs. Alberta Morton, members of the class, and Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias of Allegany County public schools who is conducting the course. The county chapter of the Red Cross and the county Civil Defense organization are co-sponsors.

School Polio Immunization Plan Completed

Students Get Over 20,000 Injections

An immunization program designed to provide protection against paralytic polio for all school children was completed early this week by the Allegany County Health Department.

The biggest program of its kind in the history of the department, it included an estimated 20,000 shots of Salk polio vaccine.

Officials said the program provided partial or full protection to some 12,000 students of public and parochial schools of the county.

Given By Nurses

The first course of shots were given in the schools between March 13 and April 3 and totaled over 12,000 injections. Second shots got under way April 29 and ended Tuesday.

The shots were given by health nurses of the department in the schools with the aid of volunteer nurses and Lay Health Workers.

The nurses kept up their regularly scheduled clinics during the polio immunization program.

As a result of the program, all students in the first four grades whose parents signed consent slips have received the full three-shot course and all other students, two or more shots.

Directed By Dr. Frantz

The program was accomplished under the direction of Dr. Winter R. Frantz, who recently retired as health officer, with Salk polio vaccine purchased by the federal government and supplied through the Maryland State Health Department.

The second shots were given during weeks when supplies of vaccine were almost exhausted throughout the country, but enough vaccine was forwarded from Baltimore to keep the program on schedule.

Supplies are moving into commercial channels, officials said, and will enable all who wish to get the shots from their family doctors.

City Will Act On Crossing Fund Payment

An ordinance setting forth terms under which the City of Cumberland will accept $50,000 from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in connection with the closing of the Williams Street crossing will be presented for action at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said City Attorney Thomas B. Finan has submitted copies of the proposed ordinance to members of the Council so they may study it thoroughly.

He said a B & O attorney will be present to answer any questions city officials might ask.

The $50,000, Mayor Eves said, can go into the city's general fund, since it is not dedicated to any specific purpose.

The payment is being made, he explained, to reimburse the City of Cumberland for a foot bridge offered by the railroad but which the city did not need.

During recent negotiations, the railroad agreed to release the fund under stipulation that the city would agree never to reopen the Williams Street crossing and to release the B & O from any obligation toward any future overpass at Williams Street.

Association To Meet

The Fort Hill Band Parents Association will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the band room to elect officers for next year.

Youth Is Held After Petty Theft

A Barton, Mass., youth charged with petty larceny was ordered held in the county jail for 10 days yesterday to allow authorities to check on his background.

Booked as James Driscoll, 17, he was sentenced by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason in connection with the theft of 94 cents from a local gas station.

A companion with whom he hitch-hiked here is being held for military authorities, and is booked by Henry T. Friend, U. S. Navy.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said the youth picked up the money from the top of the service station safe after they stopped to wash up. He said the pair was picked up by city police less than a half hour after the theft was reported.

Mr. Lilya said the lad reported his was on probation in Massachusetts and that he is being held while his story is being checked.

The firms submitted the low bid calling for an interest yield of 4.56561 per cent, based on a price of 100.965 per cent on the principal, plus accrued interest from May 1 at a coupon rate of 4⅝ per cent. The bonds are due May 1, 1987.

Four other bids at yields ranging from 4.59474 to 4. 65117 per cent were received from other investment firms and joint bidders.

The bid was accepted at a special board meeting held yesterday in Frederick.

Yesterday she visited Barton and Parkside and in the afternoon Mr. Davis escorted her to several junior high schools to observe seventh graders and also to Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools.

Miss Leiter, who is a native of Hagerstown and a graduate of Hood College, is a past president of the State Teachers Association. She was a guidance counselor in Prince George's County before accepting her present position.

Mr. Clark was admitted to the hospital Tuesday with head injuries he sustained in a fall at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass site.

Petition Asks Vote On Boost In Tax Limit

Petitions are being circulated by a group of local men, headed by Albert A. Doub, attorney, calling for a referendum on the raising of the city tax limit from $1.25 to $1.50 per $100 of assessable property.

The backers have until June 1 to obtain the names of 20 per cent of the qualified voters of Cumberland. A total of 2,552 names would be needed, based on May 1 registration of 12,758.

Doub issued the following statement outlining the position of his group concerning the raising of the tax limit by the Mayor and City Council:

"All property owners of this city are of course interested in the amount of taxes they must pay to this municipality and all of us wish to pay our fair share of the cost of city government.

"However, when we find that the tax rate of this city is already far in excess of the rate in other Maryland cities of comparable size and it is now suggested that our maximum rate be further increased, we believe it is time for the citizens of Cumberland to pause and consider their position.

"Under the municipal home rule act which became effective in 1955, the Mayor and City Council has passed five resolutions and amendments to the City Charter under which the city is operated and which limits or defines the powers of the Mayor and Council.

"The fifth resolution or amendment was passed April 22, 1957 and will become effective June 11 unless a petition for a referendum is presented before June 1.

"The amendment or resolution provides for the raising of the tax limit in addition to the usual taxes necessary to cover the requirements of the city's bonded indebtedness.

"When we consider that last year with a tax limit at $1.25 for general purposes, we were obliged to pay $1.58 per $100 of assessable property — about 33 cents was added to cover the bonded indebtedness—it is not difficult to see that with a tax rate limit of $1.50 under the "Fifth Amendment" our taxes will probably be about $1.85 if not more for the coming fiscal year.

"Too many of our citizens are under the impression that the tax rate limit must be increased to cover the bonded indebtedness. This is not so as the amortization and interest requirements of the city's bonds are added to the tax provided for general purposes and the tax limitation covers only taxes for these general purposes exclusive of the bond requirements.

"No thinking person would object to such a substantial increase in the tax limit under the City Charter if none had been made in recent years. However, a check of the local legislative act shows that the tax limit for the city's general purposes was fixed at 90 cents in 1949, at $1.25 in 1953 and now this limit has been raised to $1.50. This is an increase of 60 per cent in less than eight years.

"We know that the cost of city government is increasing, but it should not increase quite that fast."

Mayor Eves Unearths 1908 Curfew Whistle Ordinance

They chased the kids off the street with a whistle half a century ago.

That is one of the items discovered by Mayor Roy W. Eves during research on the history of Cumberland's curfew laws.

The 1908 minute book, Mayor Eves said, lists Ordinance No. 268, designed to prevent children under 14 years of age from being on the streets of the City of Cumberland between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m., unless accompanied by a parent, nurse or other attendant more than 16 years of age.

Part of the words are illegible, but Section 2 of that 1908 ordinance apparently read:

> Be it further enacted that it shall be the duty of the superintendent of the water works, or his agent, to sound the whistle at the Water Works at 8:45 p. m. as a warning to such children or guardian.

The water works referred to was located on the site of the present Girl Scout House on Greene Street and was replaced over 40 years ago when the city constructed water storage and treatment facilities at Lake Gordon.

Mayor Eves, who has opposed the curfew principle, said the 1908 ordinance is not the same as the one in the present city code.

There is no mention of a whistle in the existing ordinance.

Strong Recreation Program Urged By Student Paper

Allegany High School students were urged in the lead editorial of the current Alcohi Mirror to "stand up for constructive recreation, not sit back and let destructive 'wreckreation' take over."

Cumberland, the Alcohi Mirror said, has a serious recreation problem which is leading to an even more serious juvenile delinquency problem. The Mirror added:

"In recent weeks Cumberlanders have found out what can happen when young people have nothing to do. The beating or 'roughing up' of several boys has set up plans for a new curfew law."

It points out that a curfew will affect not only those who are causing the trouble but every teen-ager in the city, adding:

"This may seem very unfair to many of us but we must admit that something has to be done."

"Financial problems and the lack of cooperation," the editorial said," have caused the foundations of the Recreation Department to weaken," adding that "if we are to have a recreation program in the future we must do something now to strengthen our Recreation Department."

Utility employes of the C&P Telephone Company and Potomac Edison Company were also served hot food while restoring communication and power. The women of the kitchen committee set up a canteen in the LaVale fire hall.

On behalf of the LaVale volunteers, Mr. Zembower also commended the other volunteer companies for their quick response in keeping the flames from spreading.

Hail Prevention Effort Ruled Out For This Year

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—Appalachian orchardists who had hoped to "seed" clouds in an effort to control hail damage to their fruit said today they had to postpone the experiment due to insufficient response.

The plans involved a four-state area within a circle of about 80-miles diameter from Romney on the west to Frederick, Md. and from Woodstock, Va. on the south to Chambersburg, Pa.

The system involves use of generators on the ground to heat silver oxide particles to seed the clouds. Airplanes would chart the course of approaching storms and warn ground crews where the heaviest precipitation should fall.

It was necessary to line up commitments from growers of a minimum of 27,000 acres at $2.50 an acre by May 7 to assure getting the service.

Spokesman for the group said the plan was called off for this year when only about 15,000 acres were guaranteed by the deadline.

E. Blackburn Moore of Winchester, Va., was named chairman of a group to attempt to line up the necessary underwriting to put the plan in operation next year. The growers would sign a contract with the Weather Modification Co. of San Jose, Calif.

Next year, the group plans to concentrate on a smaller acreage, possibly restricted to West Virginia orchards which showed the greatest response this time.

Others named to the committee are D. K. Russell of Clearbrook, Va.; Paul M. Hawkins of Martinsburg and Ned Miller of Romney; Stanley Fulton Jr. and R. Samuel Dillon Jr., both of Hancock, Md., and Henry Heisey of Greencastle, Pa.

Bedford Valley Farm Has Top Butterfat Producer

Beth, an artificial grade Holstein, which gave 1,600 pounds of milk and 96 pounds of butter fat, was adjudged the top butterfat producer during April in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The cow is owned by Lloyd Neve, of Bedford Valley, Pa. Second place producer was Spade, an artificial grade Holstein owned by William A. Moore of Mt. Savage. It produced 88 pounds of butterfat and 1,950 pounds of milk.

In third place, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors, was No. 41, an artificial grade Holstein which belongs to Shumaker Brothers, of Rawlings. The cow produced 86 pounds of butter fat and 2,140 pounds of milk.

Other owners who had cows among the top ten producers include Carl Howsare, Bedford Valley; Harry J. Barton, Pinto; John T. Mason, Cresaptown, and Calvin P. Dayton, RD 1, Ridgeley.

The total number of cows on test during April was 896 and the average production of all cows was 689 of milk, 28.5 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.13 per cent.

The highest herd average for the month was 39 cows on test belonging to Howsare. The totals were 871 pounds of milk, 37.8 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.34 per cent.

Hail Prevention Effort Ruled Out For This Year

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—Appalachian orchardists who had hoped to "seed" clouds in an effort to control hail damage to their fruit said today they had to postpone the experiment due to insufficient response.

The plans involved a four-state area within a circle of about 80-miles diameter from Romney on the west to Frederick, Md. and from Woodstock, Va. on the south to Chambersburg, Pa.

The system involves use of generators on the ground to heat silver oxide particles to seed the clouds. Airplanes would chart the course of approaching storms and warn ground crews where the heaviest precipitation should fall.

It was necessary to line up commitments from growers of a minimum of 27,000 acres at $2.50 an acre by May 7 to assure getting the service.

Spokesman for the group said the plan was called off for this year when only about 15,000 acres were guaranteed by the deadline.

E. Blackburn Moore of Winchester, Va., was named chairman of a group to attempt to line up the necessary underwriting to put the plan in operation next year. The growers would sign a contract with the Weather Modification Co. of San Jose, Calif.

Next year, the group plans to concentrate on a smaller acreage, possibly restricted to West Virginia orchards which showed the greatest response this time.

Others named to the committee are D. K. Russell of Clearbrook, Va.; Paul M. Hawkins of Martinsburg and Ned Miller of Romney; Stanley Fulton Jr. and R. Samuel Dillon Jr., both of Hancock, Md., and Henry Heisey of Greencastle, Pa.

George Meyers Balks In Probe Of Communism

Former Countian Refuses Testimony

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Three men believed to comprise the leadership of the Communist Party in Maryland and the nation's capital today refused to discuss their activities with a House Un-American Activities subcommittee.

George A. Meyers, former Lonaconing resident, and Irving Kandel of Baltimore, and William S. Johnson of Washington, each repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment.

Meyers and Kendel were questioned whether they had headed the party organization in Maryland and the District of Columbia. Johnson, cook in a Silver Spring restaurant, was queried whether he headed the party organization in the District.

7 Witnesses Appear

The three were among seven witnesses appearing before the Congressmen in the second day of their three-day hearing on Communism in industry.

The first witness Tuesday, an undercover agent for the FBI, told the committee the party believes "the group . . . that will carry forth its revolutionary aims is the working class" and that workers in heavy industry are the force which can do it.

The agent, Clifford C. Miller, Jr., said it "is the cardinal duty of comrades to attend their union meetings."

Meyers and Kandel were named as Communists by Miller, an employe at Bethlehem Steel's big Sparrows Point plant. Johnson was named by an informant at a previous committee hearing.

Others To Be Called

At the end of today's session, a committee staff member said "10 or 12 witnesses" remain to be called tomorrow. George Williams said the line of questioning "will touch on industry again."

For the first time during the hearing, immunity from criminal prosecution was offered a witness if he would cooperate fully. Committee counsel Richard Arens made the offer to Johnson.

But the stocky, 56-year-old Negro said: "I do not consider this committee a duly constitutional committee. And if I were granted immunity I would not cooperate under duress."

The bid was accepted at a special board meeting held yesterday in Frederick.

Youth Is Held After Petty Theft

A Barton, Mass., youth charged with petty larceny was ordered held in the county jail for 10 days yesterday to allow authorities to check on his background.

Booked as James Driscoll, 17, he was sentenced by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason in connection with the theft of 94 cents from a local gas station.

A companion with whom he hitch-hiked here is being held for military authorities, and is booked by Henry T. Friend, U. S. Navy.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said the youth picked up the money from the top of the service station safe after they stopped to wash up. He said the pa r was picked up by city police less than a half hou after the theft was reported.

Mr. Lilya said the lad reported hs was on probation in Massachusetts and that he is being held while his story is being checked.

Petition Asks Vote On Boost In Tax Limit

Petitions are being circulated by a group of local men, headed by Albert A. Doub, attorney, calling for a referendum on the raising of the city tax limit from $1.25 to $1.50 per $100 of assessable property.

The backers have until June 1 to obtain the names of 20 per cent of the qualified voters of Cumberland. A total of 2,552 names would be needed, based on May 1 registration of 12,758.

Doub issued the following statement outlining the position of his group concerning the raising of the tax limit by the Mayor and City Council:

"All property owners of this city are of course interested in the amount of taxes they must pay to this municipality and all of us wish to pay our fair share of the cost of city government.

"However, when we find that the tax rate of this city is already far in excess of the rate in other Maryland cities of comparable size and it is now suggested that our maximum rate be further increased, we believe it is time for the citizens of Cumberland to pause and consider their position.

"Under the municipal home rule act which became effective in 1955, the Mayor and City Council has passed five resolutions and amendments to the City Charter under which the city is operated and which limits or defines the powers of the Mayor and Council.

"The fifth resolution or amendment was passed April 22, 1957 and will become effective June 11 unless a petition for a referendum is presented before June 1.

"The amendment or resolution provides for the raising of the tax limit in addition to the usual taxes necessary to cover the requirements of the city's bonded indebtedness.

"When we consider that last year with a tax limit at $1.25 for general purposes, we were obliged to pay $1.58 per $100 of assessable property — about 33 cents was added to cover the bonded indebtedness—it is not difficult to see that with a tax rate limit of $1.50 under the "Fifth Amendment" our taxes will probably be about $1.85 if not more for the coming fiscal year.

"Too many of our citizens are under the impression that the tax rate limit must be increased to cover the bonded indebtedness. This is not so as the amortization and interest requirements of the city's bonds are added to the tax provided for general purposes and the tax limitation covers only taxes for these general purposes exclusive of the bond requirements.

"No thinking person would object to such a substantial increase in the tax limit under the City Charter if none had been made in recent years. However, a check of the local legislative act shows that the tax limit for the city's general purposes was fixed at 90 cents in 1949, at $1.25 in 1953 and now this limit has been raised to $1.50. This is an increase of 60 per cent in less than eight years.

"We know that the cost of city government is increasing, but it should not increase quite that fast."

Mayor Eves Unearths 1908 Curfew Whistle Ordinance

They chased the kids off the street with a whistle half a century ago.

That is one of the items discovered by Mayor Roy W. Eves during research on the history of Cumberland's curfew laws.

The 1908 minute book, Mayor Eves said, lists Ordinance No. 268, designed to prevent children under 14 years of age from being on the streets of the City of Cumberland between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m., unless accompanied by a parent, nurse or other attendant more than 16 years of age.

Part of the words are illegible, but Section 2 of that 1908 ordinance apparently read:

Be it further enacted that it shall be the duty of the superintendent of the water works, or his agent, to sound the whistle at the Water Works at 8:45 p. m. as a warning to such children or guardian.

The water works referred to was located on the site of the present Girl Scout House on Greene Street and was replaced over 40 years ago when the city constructed water storage and treatment facilities at Lake Gordon.

Mayor Eves, who has opposed the curfew principle, said the 1908 ordinance is not the same as the one in the present city code.

There is no mention of a whistle in the existing ordinance.

Auxiliary Praised For Canteen Work At Scene Of Fire

Volunteer firemen of LaVale commended members of their auxiliary unit for preparing hot coffee and food for those who fought a fire Sunday night which destroyed a body repair shop at LaVale.

Cromwell Zembower, member of the fire company, who was on the scene aiding in fire fighting operations of five area companies, said the women prepared coffee and food late Sunday night at the time of the fire, and again Monday when cleanup work was being done by the volunteers.

Utility employes of the C&P Telephone Company and Potomac Edison Company were also served hot food while restoring communication and power. The women of the kitchen committee set up a canteen in the LaVale fire hall.

On behalf of the LaVale volunteers, Mr. Zembower also commended the other volunteer companies for their quick response in keeping the flames from spreading.

Strong Recreation Program Urged By Student Paper

Allegany High School students were urged in the lead editorial of the current Alcohi Mirror to "stand up for constructive recreation, not sit back and let destructive 'wreckreation' take over."

Cumberland, the Alcohi Mirror said, has a serious recreation problem which is leading to an even more serious juvenile delinquency problem. The Mirror added:

"In recent weeks Cumberlanders have found out what can happen when young people have nothing to do. The beating or 'roughing up' of several boys has set up plans for a new curfew law."

It points out that a curfew will affect not only those who are causing the trouble but every teen-ager in the city, adding:

"This may seem very unfair to many of us but we must admit that something has to be done."

"Financial problems and the lack of cooperation," the editorial said," have caused the foundations of the Recreation Department to weaken," adding that "if we are to have a recreation program in the future we must do something now to strengthen our Recreation Department."

The cow is owned by Lloyd Nave, of Bedford Valley, Pa. Second place producer was Spade, an artificial grade Holstein owned by William A. Moore of Mt. Savage. It produced 88 pounds of butterfat and 1,950 pounds of milk.

In third place, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors, was No. 41, an artificial grade Holstein which belongs to Shumaker Brothers, of Rawlings. The cow produced 86 pounds of butter fat and 2,140 pounds of milk.

The highest herd average for the month was 39 cows on test belonging to Howsare. The totals were 871 pounds of milk, 37.8 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.34 per cent.

School Polio Immunization Plan Completed

Students Get Over 20,000 Injections

An immunization program designed to provide protection against paralytic polio for all school children was completed early this week by the Allegany County Health Department.

The biggest program of its kind in the history of the department, it included an estimated 20,000 shots of Salk polio vaccine.

Officials said the program provided partial or full protection to some 12,000 students of public and parochial schools of the county.

Given By Nurses

The first course of shots were given in the schools between March 13 and April 3 and totaled over 12,000 injections. Second shots got under way April 29 and ended Tuesday.

The shots were given by health nurses of the department in the schools with the aid of volunteer nurses and Lay Health Workers.

The nurses kept up their regularly scheduled clinics during the polio immunization program.

As a result of the program, all students in the first four grades whose parents signed consent slips have received the full three-shot course and all other students, two or more shots.

Directed By Dr. Frantz

The program was accomplished under the direction of Dr. Winter R. Frantz, who recently retired as health officer, with Salk polio vaccine purchased by the federal government and supplied through the Maryland State Health Department.

The second shots were given during weeks when supplies of vaccine were almost exhausted throughout the country, but enough vaccine was forwarded from Baltimore to keep the program on schedule.

Supplies are moving into commercial channels, officials said, and will enable all who wish to get the shots from their family doctors.
